Thieu Working On Peace Bid

SAIGON (AP)—Nguyen Van Thieu, South Vietnam's president-elect, may within several weeks fulfil an election campaign pledge to try to lure North Vietnam into peace talks with an offer of a bombing pause, informed sources said Tuesday.

But there are no indications that officials in Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, will accept such an overture. North Vietnam has rejected such U.S. offers in the past, and it has had nothing but harsh things to say about Sunday's election in the South. (See also Page 3.)

Sewage Treatment

City Faces Bill High in Millions

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

Provincial anti-pollution legislation, expected next year, could cost Victoria between $18,000,000 and $21,000,000, aldermen were told Tuesday.

Notice was given recently by the department of municipal affairs that legislation will be proposed at the next session which will enable the Pollution Control Board to compel municipalities to build sewage treatment plants within a specified time.

The catch so far as Victoria is concerned is the word "treatment." If Victoria were required to treat its sewage it would mean that the whole concept of sewerage would have to be abandoned by the city.

In a report to members of the city public works committee Tuesday, City Engineer James Garnett pointed out that Victoria has three disposal outfalls—Cover Point, Maitland Point and McMillan Point.

Murder Charge Follows Ferry Killings

LYTTON (CP)—Bob McKay, 35, was remanded in custody until today when he appeared in magistrate's court Tuesday charged with the capital murder of Gerald Kennedy, 29, and David Earl, 23.

The two were found shot to death Monday on the Lytton cable ferry, drifting in the middle of the Fraser River.

They were found shot to death Monday on the Lytton cable ferry, drifting in the middle of the Fraser River.

Their deaths were discovered after residents became impatient waiting for the ferry to berth.

"The ferry had been untied," said a police spokesman.

McKay, of the Lytton Indian Reserve, was charged after a man walked into police headquarters about 30 minutes after the shootings and gave himself up.

The bodies were recovered by Les Hampton, a ferry operator, who was not on duty at the time of the shootings. He went out to the ferry in a rowboat and pulled it to shore.

RIFLE DISCOVERED

Police said each man had been shot once, probably from some distance away.

While autopsies were being performed in Kamloops, police were checking a .33-calibre rifle found along railway tracks a mile from the ferry.

Mr. Earl and Mr. Kennedy were operating the ferry at the time of their deaths. Mr. Earl was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, two of four people drowned July 21 when their car rolled off the end of the ferry.

Ontario Election Call Takes Roberts Out

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Premier John Roberts Tuesday called a provincial general election for Tuesday, Oct. 17, ending months of speculation that his Progressive Conservative party would go to the people this year.

The election announcement apparently was timed with an eye to the national Progressive Conservative leadership convention, ending any speculation that Mr. Roberts might enter the national leadership picture.

LAST WEEKEND

The premier said he did not make his decision on the election date until last weekend. Opposition party sources said they had expected him to postpone any election call until the national convention ends Saturday.

RICHIBUCTO, N.B. (CP)—Liberal Premier Robichaud has denied rumors of a New Brunswick provincial election in late October. He said the vote will come "within eight or nine months."

67 Today

In advance of 67th birthday and Premier Bennett Tuesday brushed aside question of possible retirement, saying that's for Prime Minister Pearson. He also disclosed U.S. downpayment benefit payment of $12,000,000, due to B.C. July 31, will be discussed in Washington, D.C., Thursday by U.S. and Canadian officials.

Wartime Graves Must Go

LONDON (Reuters)—The War Graves Commission confirmed Tuesday that Egyptian President Nasser has demanded the graves of 3,000 British and Commonwealth war dead be moved from a cemetery near Alexandria. (See also Page 3.)

The 3,000 victims of two world wars include Aussies, Brits, Indians, New Zealanders and Pakistanis.

Useful?

Company Stays —Pearson

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson made it clear Tuesday that the Company of Young Canadians won't die out.

He said he hopes the controversial concern now can settle down "and become a useful organization."

Mr. Pearson said he knew the Company would have growing pains "but I didn't appreciate the difficulties would be quite as complicated and great as they are."

"I had hoped the Company would have been at work constructively in Canada and abroad long before this but it has been proven to be far more difficult to put into action than I had thought would be the case."

Two-Nations Endorsed

JOHN D PICKS FLEMING--IF

Fleming

TORONTO (CP)—Progressive Conservative party sources said Tuesday night John Diefenbaker has given Donald Fleming a quiet commitment of support, on an if basis.

The sources, including some from Victoria, said the leader will back Mr. Fleming to keep the party leadership at this week's convention from falling into the wrong hands.

They said this means Duff Roblin, Robert Stanfield or David Fulton, and added Mr. Diefenbaker will enter the race only if he feels Mr. Fleming can't conquer these three with his active support.

The word came after a day in which subcommittees wrestled all day over party policy before sending reports to the 400-member policy committee today, and then awaiting the leadership vote by more than 2,400 dele-

Delegates Sure

Tories Seek Holy Grail

By RICHARD JACKSON, Ottawa Bureau

TORONTO—They say here at the Progressive Conservative convention they're electing the next prime minister and not just another Tory leader.

They are the voting delegates, and it's the conviction—almost the creed—of any one of them you'd care to ask. Which perhaps is why all the candidates are hitting hard on the same theme—phrased in a variety of ways—Victory and Power.

Power not just as leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition, but power as it's known only to the prime minister.

"It's like we're looking for the Holy Grail," says Erik Winkler, the former MP who recently resigned to go for nomination and, hopefully, election to the Ontario legislature.

He's Optimistic

"It's different," he adds, "only in that we're going to find our guy and he's going to take us back to federal power and glory in this next general election."

Mr. Winkler doesn't identify his own personal nomination for his party's "man who" will be the touchstone to power.

As chairman of the credentials committee—and so a big wheel with the delegates—he must be impartial. Until the moment he pulls down the handle of the electronic voting machine at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday.

Dead Certain

The interesting and perhaps odd thing about it is that he's so dead certain, so absolutely positive—like hundreds of others of the 2,500 or so delegates—that the convention winner is prime minister.

Ask him—or any of them—for a hard reason and they murmur something about people having had enough.

Enough of worry about Quebec and the problem of national unity, of concern over ever-rising living costs, of fears of even higher taxes still to come.

Had more than enough of all these things, say these almost cockily confident delegates, that the voters, in relief, will turn to Saturday's "man who."

Glory Feeling

There's a terribly impressive head of steam being worked up here.

The candidates have sensed this, and all proclaim they'll be the winner Saturday and when the votes are counted in the next election.

They all say the same thing differently on their buttons, banner and broadsides.

Robert Stanfield: "The Man with the Winning Ways."

George Hees: "Hees Can Win."

Donald Fleming: "Ready Now."

Duff Roblin: "Man for Canada."

Wallace McCallum: "Power Through Decision."

Alvin Hamilton: "Go Hamilton-Go Canada."

David Fulton: "All Across Canada."

Michael Starrs: "Power Through Unity."

Chatterton in Favor

Mr. Diefenbaker is due here today to size up the situation for himself before he speaks Thursday night.

Mr. Fleming told reporters he will rank fourth or better on the first ballot.

Some of Mr. Diefenbaker's super-loyalists have come out for Mr. Fleming.

One of those who pressed Mr. Fleming to enter the race is Gordon Chatterton, former trade and defence minister.

Another backer of Mr. Fleming is George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich who last November led the Diefenbaker parade when the party leader held a separate meeting in the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa while the party in the next room was voting to hold a leadership convention.

Theodore Ricard, MP for St. Hyacinthe-Bagot and Mr. Diefenbaker's Quebec lieutenant, is said to be in the Fleming camp.

Paul O. Tremblay of Granby, Quebec party president, was reportedly dropped down by the Roblin committee for saying that he might organize a stop-Diefenbaker group should the chief run. This group would have included Quebec backers of Mr. Roblin, George Hees, Bill Fyles and Mr. Stanfield.

Both the Roblin and Fleming camps were said to have been concerned that Mr. Tremblay's threat might have been enough to drive Mr. Diefenbaker into the contest.

One former Diefenbaker cabinet minister from the West said he is convinced that the chief plans to bow out gracefully and assume the role of elder statesman of the party.

This source also said Mr. Chatterton is definitely backing Mr. Fleming at this point.

Theory Wins Easily

Russ Simpson, campaign manager for Mr. Chatterton and an old fishing pal of Mr. Diefenbaker's, said flatly the chief is not going to run.

The policy subcommittee that worked on the two-nations theory took less than two hours to endorse it by a margin of roughly 3-1. It calls for constitutional changes taking into account that:

"Canada is and should be a federal state."

"Canada is composed of the original inhabitants of this land and of two founding peoples (deux nations), with historic rights, who have been and continue to be joined by people from many lands."

They also proposed a permanent body to study constitutional issues between provinces and between federal and provincial governments.

Another policy subcommittee took severe whacks at the

TV Strike Averted

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—A strike that could have blacked out the ABC and NBC television networks just as their new seasons started was averted Tuesday night when contract agreements were reached with the 2,000-member National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians.

Scientist Held In U.S.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—A Japanese member of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's medical research team at the University of Maryland was arrested last Friday for trying to leave the U.S. with three crates of scientific documents, NASA disclosed Tuesday.

Officials said scientist Hideburo Hamana was preparing to return to his homeland with his wife and daughter after several years of work with NASA, where he was studying the effects of outer space on the function of the brain.

CRATES SEIZED

U.S. customs agents seized three crates labelled "household effects" which contained 38 slides of information on the project plus other scientific documents, data tables, and computations and analyses of the information.

The date, which the officials said would have little value on the espionage market, had been reported missing last Wednesday.

Chou Hits Guard

TOKYO (Reuters) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai is reported to have issued a directive banning violent demonstrations against all foreign establishments in Peking.

But sources quoted by the Peking correspondent of the Japanese financial daily Nihon Keizai Shimbun did not give any reason for the directive.

He said it is believed the ban is closely related to severe criticism of recent violent action by Red Guards against foreign diplomats in Peking.

GENOA (Reuters) — The 13,000-ton Chinese ship Li Ming was towed into dock here Tuesday with a thought of China's Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung hoisted high — ending a 24-day quarantine imposed by the port authorities when the ship's captain refused to take down political slogans.

During the quarantine, when the Chinese requested fresh water for the crew the Italians answered: "Take down your banners first."

Tuesday, the Li Ming removed banner protests against Italian "Fascist measures" in refusing food and water.

Instead it bore Mao's maxim: "An old Chinese proverb defines stupid people as those who lift up stones to let them fall on their feet."

"Reactionaries all over the world belong to this category of stupid people."

Bark His Diet

KUBONG, South Korea (UPI) — Rescue workers today carefully removed dirt, rocks and shattered timbers blocking the escape passage for a 36-year-old miner trapped for 15 days by a cave-in 215 feet below the surface of the earth.

Officials said they hoped to clear the passage by Thursday.

The miner, Kim Chang-son, chattered with digging crews and relatives over a telephone line, which was lowered into the coal mine. He said he was cold and hungry and had "a little stomach ache." His only food was bark stripped from mine timbers, and he was drinking water which had seeped into the shaft.

Guerrillas Blast Capital

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas laid down a rocket and mortar barrage on the provincial capital of Tam Ky early today, and then launched a five-pronged attack on key installations in the city 30 miles south of Da Nang.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said government forces repulsed the attacks and killed 138 guerrillas.

Government casualties were reported light.

U.S. marines, meanwhile, hunted a North Vietnamese force of perhaps 1,000 men Wednesday northwest of Tam Ky after they killed 180 soldiers in the biggest ground battle in two months.

Marine casualties in the two-day fight that subsided Tuesday were reported as 54 killed and 104 wounded.

Poor weather kept U.S. warplanes away from the Hanoi-Haiphong area Tuesday and limited most strikes to the panhandle of North Vietnam, U.S. spokesmen said. There was no report of any U.S. plane losses Tuesday.

South Arabia 'All Finished'

ADEN (Reuters) — Britain has acknowledged the collapse of the regime it helped set up in the South Arabian Federation and offered to negotiate with the extremist Nationalist Liberation Front on formation of a new government.

In a major policy declaration, British High Commissioner Sir Humphrey Trevelyan said Tuesday the federal government formed eight years ago has ceased to function, and no longer exercises control in the federation.

NFL MENTIONED

Trevelyan said he recognizes nationalist forces as "representative of the people" and is ready for immediate negotiations with them.

He specifically mentioned the NFL — whose campaign of violence largely was responsible for the downfall of present federal regime — in any talks for the formation of a new and fully representative government.

DOOR OPEN

But he also left the door open for participation by the federation's other major extremist forces, the Egyptian-based Front for the Liberation of the Occupied South Yemen.

FLOSY has been involved in a bitter struggle with the NFL over who should rule the federation's 1,000,000 inhabitants after the British pull out. Both also have been fighting the British.

Why Are You A Poor Talker?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports a simple technique of everyday conversation which can pay you real dividends in social and business advancement and works like magic to give you poise, self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by what they say and how they say it. Whether in business, at social functions, or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances there are ways to make a good impression every time you talk.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in everyday conversation, the publishers have printed full details of their interesting self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Conversation," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. Jordan-Israel Fight Follows Suez Battle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Artillery, machine-gun and mortar rounds crashed across the Jordan River truce line between Israel and Jordan Tuesday in a new three-hour rupture of the Middle East ceasefire.

Tanks and field pieces roared from dawn until mid-morning, sending shells into positions on both sides of the Damia Bridge crossing about 13 miles north of Jericho. The Israelis reported three soldiers wounded and Jordan said two of its men were hit.

when the Suez fighting broke out.

Rumors in Beirut, Lebanon, suggested a coup in Syria and unconfirmed stories contended that Chief-of-State Noureddin Atassi may be under house arrest. Atassi's name has been conspicuously missing from news bulletins.

There was considerable doubt, however, about the likelihood of an outright coup, because only the military could engineer it and all the top officers are members of the ruling Baath party.

Egypt said in a communique Tuesday that 42 civilians were killed, 131 injured and 30 houses and two mosques damaged in the Israeli shelling of the canal-side cities of Suez and Port Taufiq Monday.

Both sides claimed the other instigated Tuesday's flareup. An Israeli Army spokesman said Jordanian troops loosed two barrages across the river at dawn, while a communique from Amman charged that the Israelis sprayed the east bank with machine-gun fire at 5:45 a.m.

Egypt Coup Nipped?

CAIRO (AP) — The semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram confirmed Tuesday that Field Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer, Egypt's former vice-president and army commander, may be tried by a court-martial with 50 other officers accused of plotting against President Nasser.

Beleaguered Britain

BRITAIN'S LABOR government, beleaguered at home by dissatisfaction and incipient rebellion within its own ranks, and abroad by increasingly critical political and diplomatic developments, is tackling the problems with restraint and circumspection. On top of everything else, the country faces continuing economic difficulties. But it is to her credit that she continues stoically to pursue the elusive solutions to her woes.

Looming large is the dangerous breakdown in her relations with China, arising chiefly from the fact that she has stubbornly and so far successfully resisted attempts by Peking to dominate the policies of government in Hong Kong.

She continues to face the stalemate in Rhodesia, she is at odds with Spain over the future of Gibraltar, she is unwillingly involved in the troubles of her former colonies in the Caribbean, and now the hope of a stable government for the South Arabian Federation by the time of Britain's withdrawal from Aden next January seems to have exploded.

But the British are being realistic and entirely unemotional in this latest disappointment. Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, the British High Commissioner at Aden, has announced he will meet his old enemies, the leaders of the extremist National Liberation Front to seek a solution.

What he and the British government want is some assurance that effective control can be maintained in the 17 little states which comprise the now disintegrating South Arabian Federation. The alternative would have been civil war.

The National Liberation Front claims to control 12 of the old federation's states, and although it is not impossible that the rival extremists, represented by the Egyptian-backed Front for the Liberation of Occupied South Yemen, may be invited to participate in discussions, the NLF obviously offers the best hope of uniting the sheikdoms and sultanates.

The fact that President Abdel Gamal Nasser of Egypt has shown a new mood of moderation during the Khartoum conference of Arab states, even to the point of declaring his intention of withdrawing some 50,000 Egyptian troops from the Yemen, gives some cause for optimism. For as long as these forces remained in the Yemen, close by the frontier of the old Aden Protectorate, they created tension. Their presence would, and still could, of course, make the NLF's task of administering a federation that much more difficult.

If Nasser's legions are recalled then the NLF and Britain may yet find a formula for a viable government in what still may be a successful South Arabian Federation.

That being the case Great Britain will be entitled to a large share of the credit.

For Faster Growth

THE GIANT B.C. forest firm of MacMillan Bloedel Limited has announced that it is going to use its electronic computers this fall to discover whether fertilizing of the B.C. forests is economically sound.

For the past 13 years MacMillan has been experimenting with fertilizer tests. It believes that about three-quarters of the coastal forest region is deficient in nitrogen, and that timely applications of this fertilizer can shorten the maturing period of commercial timber as well as encouraging better seed crops.

The firm now has sufficient data to program it into its computer to find out of the cost of fertilizing—a tremendous project—would be worth while.

A conservative estimate of what might happen is a 10 per cent growth in yields, and MacMillan estimates that this would be sufficient to provide permanent supply of wood to a 750-ton-a-day pulp mill.

As the growth of the pulp and paper industry, as well as the other timber products industries is limited by the amount of the maximum annual cut, fertilization of the forests has become suddenly a matter of considerable importance.

MacMillan hopes that its computers will give an answer, and if it shows that, the application of nitrogenous fertilizers is practical. In one or two cases the firm has found that its intensive forestry programs, which include fertilization, have increased yields by as much as 50 per cent.

How could such a massive fertilization project be carried out? MacMillan Bloedel suggests that in time it might provide a second use to fire-fighting for the giant Mars bombers which have been in such great demand during our current warm, dry summer.

An Eye Bopper

AN INTERESTING physiological footnote to the history of social change in the United Kingdom has been added recently by The Lancet, long recognized as one of Britain's most authoritative medical journals.

It reports that in the past four years eight cases of eye injury due to champagne corks have been treated in one London hospital. Significantly, it states, a search of the hospital records reveals only one other such case—and that, in 1936.

The Lancet advances two theories for this: the first, the amount of champagne being consumed now as opposed to then, and the second, that those natural openers of champagne bottles, the English butlers, have almost everywhere disappeared.

Both theories, it appears, have some validity. The number of bottles of champagne drunk in the United Kingdom has been steadily rising. In 1957, for instance, 2,950,291 were purchased, but in 1965 more than 5,181,000 were bought.

Though this supports the first theory, the second gains considerable strength from the fact that one London headwaiter reports that in his establishment more than 150 champagne bottles are opened a day and that in his 47 years of service there he has never heard of one eye being bopped by a cork.

Whichever theory one follows it would seem that the report is likely to be of as much concern to sociologists as it is to physicians.

Despair Could Set Nation Ablaze

By GEORGE C. VINCENT

(Second of two articles)

IN Peru, the key problems remain. Agrarian reform, approved on paper since 1964, has got virtually nowhere. With the Indian voteless, there is little inducement for ambitious politicians to risk the wrath of other elements — including the military — by attempting to bring about the change. Construction on the immensely formidable task has begun. It is estimated it may take a billion dollars and 40 years to realize Belaunde's dream, if ever it is realized. Meanwhile, as in the case of so many grandiose projects in South America, the demand for men, money and equipment for this wilderness job results in the neglect of more mundane, but immediately vital, needs — such as the improvement of the utterly inadequate road-links between the coastal cities and the Andean communities, roads which are already showing signs of decay.

Belaunde, Peru's first truly liberal president, is, like Chile's President Frei, a symbol of hope for the continent, and of something like despair if his efforts fail. His chief enemy, among his many foes, is time. He cannot, by law, succeed himself and his term ends in the early summer of 1969. With his own party weakened by desertions and the opposition divided by ideologies of right and left, the danger is a weak successor or an indecisive election, the army stepping in, and probably an attempt to completely halt the clock of reform, or turn it back. That could be the moment of truth. If it should then dawn upon the Indians that hope was false, they could set the Andes, and eventually, the nation, ablaze.

Washington Calling

Mr. Johnson's Accentuated Habits

By MARQUE CHILDS

NOW in his 60th year, Lyndon Baines Johnson, as with most human beings, is dominated by the habits of a lifetime. If nearly four years in the presidency have brought any important change, it is in the accentuation of those habits. As his troubles multiply, he intensifies the strategy of personal domination that has been the mainstay of his career. Ever since the crisis of Detroit, when he was compelled to send in federal troops to put down the most serious civil disorder in this century, he has been calling in either individually or in small groups, those on his approved list of opinion-makers.

The ritual is much the same in each instance. The president's guests are ushered into the small study off his oval office. It is a windowless room, the walls hung with autographed photographs of the great and the near great along with scenes of Johnson's Texas back-ground.

The exhortation follows a familiar pattern. The president reads from reports from his generals in Vietnam. It is an upbeat recital. The war is not stalemated. The enemy is hurting. The Vietnam critics will be confounded before too long.

Other presidents have had even worse troubles and they have come through and triumphed in the end. As for the deadline in the polls, look at Harry Truman, who slumped to 32 per cent and stood at only 33 per cent (the present Johnson rating) five months before he was elected to a full four-year term.

All this is impressive, earnest, sometimes solemn. The big man, hunched forward in his chair, talking, talking, talking, with hardly an interruption in the dimly lighted little study, is the such persuader.

It all comes out in news stories, the columns, the news weeklies. And while no source is given, even the casual reader can hardly escape the conclusion that the inspired was a man named Johnson. One of the president's most faithful followers reported from such a session that when asked whether he would change anything he had done in the past year, Johnson replied, "Nothing."

As majority leader in the Senate, the Johnson technique was intensive persuasion abetted by a system of rewards and penalties. When it was a question of changing four or five votes, it worked more often than not. Whether in the larger context of the presidency this same technique works is what many Johnson associates have been asking as the president's rating has plummeted.

Another habit the exhorter has carried over from the past is secrecy. This has become so accentuated that even his immediate political family — "Marginal Highway" along the

as well — sometimes are unaware of his intentions until the acts. He guards forthcoming appointments so jealously that a leak or even a hint is enough to kill a selection already made.

The most recent and perhaps the most striking instance is that of his choice for the "mayor" of Washington, commissioner under the commission-council plan the president put through Congress.

The White House picked Walter E. Washington for the newly created office. Washington had been director of the National Capital Housing Authority until he resigned to become housing chief in New York City at the invitation of Mayor John Lindsay. Washington, a Negro, is considered one of the foremost housing specialists in the country.

When a flock of FBI agents set out on a security check, even though Washington had been cleared for the federal office he had held eight months before, the word was widely circulated and the Washington Post printed the story. Lindsay confirmed that Washington had resigned from his New York job. The president is said to have reached a high peak of indignation. All Press Secretary George Christian could say was that no decision on the matter had been taken.

This has happened several times in the recent past, but never quite so conspicuously. It soon became known that the president had offered the post to Washington and that in all good faith he had accepted it. Even Johnson's sourdest critics must at times feel compassion for one who carries the fearful burdens of the presidency. As he tells every visitor, he works harder than anyone could humanely be expected to work. Yet from around the country come reports of personal distrust of the man as well as of his policies. A common complaint is that he seems to be acting in whatever he does.

Photographed at ease at his ranch, he seems to be working hard to look relaxed. It is an incredibly cruel and demanding office. And one form the scrutiny of every act and every word with a jealous eye and a doubting ear.

Police and Fire Unity

Our Readers' Views

It is to be considered for publication in this column only if it is a letter of general interest and if it is accompanied by writer's name and address. Editors will be given to those that are brief.

I SEE by the paper that ex-alderman C. Savage, the city fire chief and the deputy police chief are once again advocating amalgamation.

About 15 years ago the city of Victoria closed a firehall and laid off 14 men. Just a short while ago they came within one vote in council of closing another hall. Recently they formed out the emergency ambulance to a private concern to avoid hiring more men.

Now we see these men wanting to take over two municipal fire departments with excellent emergency ambulance service. One of their aims being to "consolidate all ambulance services." Does this mean that Oak Bay and Saanich services would also be farmed out because of cost? A cost that only the city finds to be exorbitant; and where would the ambulances be located — in the city?

The outside municipalities, by careful planning and forethought, have built up fire departments with predominantly new equipment. I feel sure that this equipment would be regarded as too costly and too valuable to be allowed to just sit and guard a district such as Oak Bay and would in all probability be moved into the city halls while older second-line equipment would replace it.

The possibility of a new training station was mentioned. This again is needed only by the city; Oak Bay and Saanich both have ample training room and their own training officers. Proper positioning of new fire stations for the city was another goal — perhaps they mean repositioning Oak Bay and Saanich halls.

The central control room also would not be much of a saving as the on-duty firefighters in Oak Bay handle alarm room duties, and Saanich uses the alarm room as a familiarization ground for possible new recruits.

A mutual aid pact between the city and the municipalities has been in force for years and the city has availed itself of this

World Government

By RUSSELL WODELL

This is the fourth and concluding installment of the winning essay in an International Association of Lions Clubs contest entered by more than a million children throughout the world. The 17-year-old author is an ex-Victorian, now living in Cranbrook.

As stated in Article I of the United Nations Charter, the purposes of the United Nations are:

1. "To maintain international peace, security, and to that end: to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace, and for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace, and to bring about by peaceful means, and in conformity with the principles of justice and international law, adjustment or settlement of situations which might lead to a breach of the peace;

2. To develop friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principles of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, and to take other appropriate measures to strengthen universal peace;

3. To achieve international co-operation in solving international problems of an economic, social, cultural, or humanitarian character, and in promoting and encouraging respect for human rights and for fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, sex, language, or religion; and

4. To be a centre for harmonizing the actions of nations in the attainment of these common ends."

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

First World War: Fifty years ago today — in 1917 — British renewed pressure on the Lens sector and near Ypres.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today — in 1942 — Russians drove Germans from village of Stalingrad in fierce counter-attacks. Allied fighter planes bombed Japanese positions at Kokoda, New Guinea.

If there is to be a federated world government such as I propose, economic planning must necessarily be one of its functions. The great economic disparity in the world today must be corrected, or economic overbalance will lead to rebellion against the government, thus defeating its purpose.

With this point we must consider the exact nature of this proposed government. We seem to have reached the Communist ideal — the world state with "the good of all" as the primary goal. Yet the basic tenets of communism are alien to me, and I believe that the rising tides of these beliefs in the political scene today is a terrible threat to the identity of man. To reach their goals, Communists sacrifice individuality to the will of the masses — and this is suicide of the soul.

Although I have shown the nation to be a major opposing force to world peace, I do not intend the world government to destroy all nations and reduce humanity to an amorphous mass. Rather, a federation of nations is to come into existence, a group of national leaders which shall be primarily concerned with the problems of the world, not of their nations. And do not think I have merely adapted the Communist doctrine to nations rather than to men. Our democratic societies have laws forbidding individuals to murder individuals, and police to enforce these laws. And the same must be true of nations!

"Power corrupts, and absolute power corrupts absolutely." Lord Acton's maxim is no less true today than in his time, and our federation must be prevented from becoming a totalitarian state through its control of weapons. For this purpose the national representatives must be elected to the world government; and this condition presupposes the existence of an intelligent voting public. For the federation to be successful, or even to exist, the individuals who are to be governed must be raised to a level of education where they can appreciate the problems involved.

Nor may the school system become a propaganda machine for the government. The individual must realize for himself his own importance, and realize that loyalty to a nation, a state, or a government must always be secondary to his responsibilities to himself and to other men.

Let there be no mistake, this federation of man cannot be easily attained. Nor is it a universal panacea. There is no easy road to peace. Only through evolution of his social, moral, and intellectual values can man achieve true peace with himself.

I foresee great difficulties if my plan is accepted; yet I can see no other route which will lead us away from the brink of disaster. Perhaps there is no valid plan; perhaps peace is not attainable. And perhaps this is of no significance. In the final analysis man may prove to be no more than a skin disease on the crust of a piece of rock circling an insignificant star; all our plans may be no more than the schemes of individual bacteria. Yet human integrity demands that we reject this thought. We must pray that soon our world leaders may be inspired with the divine spark to say, with godlike wisdom, "Let there be peace."

Thank you for your article entitled "Bringing It Home." After 18 happy years in Canada, I still get sore when England is pushed around. The fact that Britain has no say in Canadian affairs and does not want any should be made clear by politicians. As it is, large numbers of people including visitors from the States are given the false impression of a country still tied to England's apron-strings.

Please, Canada, go ahead and bring it home as soon as possible and we'll all feel happier.

Own Petard

One cannot help indulging in a bit of a smile over the de Gaulle situation, and his help for separatist Quebec. It would seem that Canada is now hoist with her own petard, having poked her nose, sanctionwise, into Rhodesia's affairs, she rather deserves to suffer de Gaulle's interference. It is high time we stopped playing the United (sic) Nations game, and supported rather than opposed Rhodesia's bid for fair play.

Tragic Truth

I am wondering how many of your readers read and enjoyed that very clever article by Arthur Hodge, "How Did Don Don Wins?"

Although of course the article was written in a light vein it is tragically true and after the triumph of the present dictators in South Vietnam we will have glowing reports from the U.S. about the triumph of democracy in South Vietnam.

If it were not so tragic it would be funny but I have seen so many elections run on the lines outlined by your correspondent. The one change is that

By FRANK CAREY
from Washington

The U.S. is trying to develop pure-fusion weapons — that is, hydrogen bombs and missiles which would not require an A-bomb trigger and would therefore be free of radioactive fallout.

The nation's nuclear weapons engineers are also still trying to develop the fear-some "neutron bomb," which has been described as a kind of death-ray weapon.

This was related Tuesday by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission in response to questions submitted by The Associated Press.

The answers — in which the defence department collaborated with the AEC — also indicated that:

● The U.S. has a powerful and versatile stockpile of tens of thousands of individual nuclear weapons.

● The stockpile includes such novel things as nuclear anti-submarine rockets, torpedoes and depth charges — weapons that have had little official mention in the past.

● The U.S. still holds an overall lead in nuclear weapons over the Soviet Union.

● China apparently has a "rational, well-organized" nuclear weapons development program — and conceivably could launch an intercontinental ballistic missile test vehicle before the end of this year.

Some questions and answers:

Q. What progress is being made on "advanced concepts" of nuclear arms — such as the so-called "neutron bomb?"

A. The AEC is conducting research on enhanced radiation weapons (neutron bombs). Such a device would be very "clean." The term "very clean" would mean a device in which only a small amount of the energy released would come from fission. The blast effect would be very small but the radiation effect from neutrons would be predominant.

The AEC also is conducting research on pure-fusion weapons. The status of programs for developing such weapons is classified.

Q. What is the American nuclear arms posture in comparison with that of the Russians? AEC Chairman Seaborg was quoted as long ago as October, 1961, as saying he had the impression that the United States was in the lead "in the aggregate."

A. The situation is still much the same. In aggregate — that is, over-all — the U.S. still leads the Soviet Union. This is of course a very complex and complicated matter and any detailed comparison would be difficult and not necessarily meaningful. For several decades the U.S. has maintained this nuclear weapons superiority. The maintenance of this superiority does not depend on ever-increasing numbers of weapons or increasing stockpile yield, but on continued improvements in weapons effectiveness.

Q. What is the AEC's rating of the achieved, and potential, strength of China in the nuclear weapons field?

A. The Chinese nuclear tests to date indicate a rational, well-organized nuclear weapons development program. It must be concluded that they have capable nuclear weapons designers and the technology is therefore available to carry out government policies in designing and testing nuclear warheads.

The conclusions of the joint U.S. Senate-House of Representatives committee on atomic energy on a timetable for development of a Chinese nuclear weapons system are consistent with the Jan. 23, 1967, statement of Defence Secretary McNamara:

"With regard to an ICBM, we believe that the Red Chinese nuclear weapons and ballistic missile development program are being pursued with high priority."

On the basis of recent evidence, it appears possible that they may conduct either a space or a long-range ballistic missile launching before the end of 1967. However, it appears unlikely that the Chinese could deploy a significant number of ICBMs before the mid-1970s, or that those ICBMs would have great reliability, speed of response or a substantial protection against attack.

A launch of an ICBM test vehicle by China this year would be necessary if the Chinese are to meet the most rapid development schedules considered possible by both the committee and the defence department.

After China's first ICBM is test-fired, there will be a period of testing and missile improvement. If the Chinese then achieve a first operational ICBM capability in the 1970-1972 period, it is possible they will have a significant deployment in the mid-1970s.

Bilingual Harmony Possible—Martin

From Ottawa

Bilingualism in the civil service can be achieved in a climate of harmony and complete respect for individual rights, says External Affairs Minister Martin.

Mr. Martin makes the statement in the external affairs department's quarterly bulletin, expected out towards the end of this week. It reproduces a hitherto-unpublished statement the minister made to new officers of the department last month.

From the experience of his department, Mr. Martin says, it is clear that the goals of bilingualism in the public service defined by Prime Minister Pearson "can be reached in a climate of harmony and complete respect for individual rights and the principles of justice..." In a statement Aug. 6, 1966, Mr. Pearson expressed hope that a climate would be created in which both English-speaking and French-speaking public servants worked together towards common goals, "using their own language and applying their own cultural values, but each fully understanding and appreciating those of the other."

Mr. Martin said that for two years, the department has been sending important official statements to many posts abroad in both languages. These were statements that Canadian diplomats needed to do their work.

An increasing proportion of messages were being exchanged in French between the department and Canadian missions abroad. Similarly, at policy meetings within the department, it was not uncommon, "if not yet the rule," for each participant to express his views in his own language. More than 25 per cent of all departmental employees are bilingual, while another 25 per cent have a good working knowledge of the two official languages, Mr. Martin said.

Britain, U.S. Skeptical

Tito Urges Israel Withdrawal

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON
From London

Yugoslav President Tito's Middle East peace plan calls for Israel's withdrawal from all war-torn territory without explicitly providing for the Arabs to end their state of war with the Israelis.

Qualified diplomats, reporting this Monday, said that as a consequence of first reactions of the United States and Britain to the proposals have been skeptical. U.S. President Johnson's administration was said to view the proposals as unrealistic.

Tito's plan was presented to Johnson last Wednesday. It also has gone to Soviet, British, French and Indian chiefs of government and to United Nations Secretary-General U Thant.

The proposals are understood to have been modified in a pro-Arab sense after Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser objected to some parts of Tito's scheme.

Informants gave this rundown of the five-point Yugoslav plan:

● Withdrawal of all forces from territory occupied since June 4, the day before the Israeli-Arab war began, under UN observation. This means an Israeli pullback from Egypt's Sinai Peninsula, Jordanian Jerusalem, western Jordan and a Syrian ridge of hills commanding northern Israeli territory.

● Guarantees of the security and the frontiers of all states of the region as they stood June 4 to be provided by the Big Four powers or by the UN Security Council. These would last pending a definitive solution of all outstanding Arab-Israeli problems and might include stationing of UN forces along both sides of their frontiers.

● Free passage for all ships, including those of Israel, through the Strait of Tiran until the International Court of Justice has defined the status of that waterway. The Egyptians argue that the strait falls within their national jurisdiction.

● Navigation through the Suez Canal to be restored to the June 4 situation. The Israelis at that time were barred from using the canal — among other reasons because the Egyptians considered themselves technically in a state of war with the Jewish state.

● After fulfilment of the foregoing measures, there should be action by the Security Council, with participation of the parties directly concerned, to arrange for the settlement of other questions in dispute. Among those cited by Tito as primary issues were the questions of the Palestine refugees and the passing of Israeli ships through the Suez Canal.

Tito was said originally to have included a provision that would have bound the Arab states to end their state of war with Israel, although not necessarily to recognize her. But Nasser and others made plain they could not, at this stage, contemplate either course.

BACKGROUND

De Gaulle Determined to Stay in Power

From Paris

Widespread rumors that President Charles de Gaulle plans to hold a referendum in the fall and give up power should the outcome go against him were denied Tuesday by Prime Minister Georges Pompidou.

In an interview published in the French Weekly L'Express, Pompidou said the rumors were "without foundation."

Pompidou said he admitted the existence in France of a "malaise" (uneasiness) brought about by de Gaulle's controversial stand in Quebec last month when he voiced his full support for French Canadian extremists.

This stand and the stiff reaction of the Canadian federal government forced de Gaulle to precipitate his return to France in the midst of a world wide outcry of criticism shared by more than half the French population. Playing down the sharp decline suffered by de

Gaulle's popularity according to national public opinion polls, Pompidou said: "A number of Frenchmen have been shocked by the Quebec episode, essentially because they were unaware of the existence, let alone the extent, of the French Canadian problem."

"My personal impression is that the excitement is abating and that the people are now realizing what really happened," Pompidou added.

He conceded that the one-vote Gaullist majority in the national assembly was threatened by various attitudes such as that adopted by Valéry Giscard d'Estaing, head of the independent republican faction of the Gaullist majority.

Giscard d'Estaing three weeks ago openly criticized de Gaulle's "one man rule" in France.

Describing this criticism as "regrettable," Pompidou said Giscard d'Estaing was making a "serious error in his analysis."

"France today is governed," he said, "and I don't expect an immediate crisis, nor do I expect the 'stormy' parliamentary reconvening that everyone is predicting."

Pompidou conceded that Giscard d'Estaing could, if he wanted, bring about the fall of the present government.

"But he would lose many of his supporters," Pompidou said, "and then even if he could find the seven or eight votes necessary to bring about the downfall of my government, he would have to face the possibility of the compensation by other parliamentarians little inclined to provoke a ministerial crisis or see the present leftist opposition take over."

Pigeons, Livestock Join List Of Main Prize Winners

A number of Victorians were among the award winners listed in the latest results from the recent PNE in Vancouver.

Thomson Probe Possible

WASHINGTON (CP) — News week magazine says "justice department trust busters and the Senate judiciary committee may look into the American dealings of Lord Thomson of Fleet, the 73-year-old British press baron who now owns the largest chain of daily newspapers in the U.S."

Thomson two weeks ago acquired 12 small-town dailies for $475,000,000 in the largest newspaper transaction in U.S. history and now owns 35 American newspapers, Newsweek recalls.

NO COMMENT
A justice department spokesman said the department knows about the purchase, but it is not going to comment on whether an anti-trust investigation is being considered in such cases or has been undertaken.

A staff member of the Senate subcommittee on anti-trust and monopoly said action in such cases is much more likely to come first from the justice department.

The Canadian-born Thomson also owns 38 dailies in Canada and more than a dozen in England, Wales, Scotland and Northern Ireland.

Bert Pritchett of Victoria won eight prizes for his fantail pigeons — three firsts, four seconds and one third prize.

D. H. Sibbald of Cobble Hill was top herdsman in the finals of the sheep herdsman competitions.

The light horse novice jumping competition was won by S. A. Cuppage of Victoria, riding Wislath Thinking.

In the Appaloosa horse classes, Mrs. A. E. Mackay of Victoria was third in the yield mare class. Mrs. H. A. Mackay of Victoria won second prize for two animals, progeny of one mare, and third for two animals get of one sire.

HOLSTEIN CLASSES
There were two local winners in the Holstein cattle classes. William and Joseph Taylor of Saanichton won the junior female championship and three reserve championships. They also took home rosettes for two first places, three seconds and two thirds.

Stanhope Dairy Farm of Victoria gained two first prizes and a second.

Only four of the 140 helium-filled balloons released from Centennial Square July 1 were returned by the Aug. 31 deadline — two from Victoria and two from Washington State.

Tom Buell, 2690 Arbutus Road, won $25 for his balloon which landed at Burlington, Wash.; Tina Nielson of Lakelse, B.C., won $15 for one that reached Vernon, Wash., and Connie Jensen of 640 Speed won $15 for one that landed on a lawn at James Bay.

Iwasaki Launches $1,500,000 Suit

GANGES — Torao Iwasaki, a retired Vancouver Japanese-Canadian, Tuesday launched a $1,500,000 suit against the federal government for land taken from him during the Second World War.

The suit was taken in Vancouver's Exchequer Court Registry and was in the form of a petition of right.

Mr. Iwasaki's claim says the Secretary of State of Canada had no right to take his two large lots on Salt Spring Island. He asks for an order that the federal government either return the property or give him $1,500,000.

The land was seized in 1942, at which time thousands of Japanese-Canadians living on the B.C. coast were forced to move inland in what authorities said was a war security measure. The petition gives the Crown four weeks in which to file a statement of defense.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly you may lose pounds of unwanted fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Nimm Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Nimm Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose belly fat and help regain slender more graceful curves if you're carrying extra pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly most disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

But on Tuesday morning there was no one else to do the job. Mr. Rhyne, a retired dairy machine operator, had to remain on the ground to operate the equipment. He hoisted Mrs. Rhyne to the top of the 80-foot tree by a block which had been left in place when the tree was topped. Mrs. Rhyne threaded a cable through the block.

Later she went up again to make an adjustment.

Sooke Woman Rigs 80-Foot Spar Tree

Tuesday was a big day for Mrs. Isabel Rhyne. At the age of 58, she achieved her ambition of rigging a spar tree.

Mrs. Rhyne and her husband Herbert, 62, are logging their 50-acre tract at Kemp Lake, west of Sooke. They live alone. "Fifteen years ago she wanted to go up a 120-foot spar tree, but I wouldn't let her," said Mr. Rhyne Tuesday night.

Victoria Yacht Wins

The eight-metre yacht Realty skippered by D. Martin of the Vancouver club, came in third. Skipper Smith, who accepted the A, B, C and D cruising class championship trophy from Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes, said of his win, "It's the sort of thing that happens once in 10 years."

Members of his crew were Denny and Pat Coverdale of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Tom and Wanda Varty of the Maple Bay Yacht Club and Leigh Dobson of California.

In the Thunderbird competition, Ned Asbe's May D II beat out W. McCormick's Sequoia and the West Vancouver Yacht Club's Aquila skippered by J. Wilson.

Constitution Change

Ottawa Ready to Talk: Trudeau

By DAVE RAZAY
 QUEBEC (CP)—Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau Monday declared the federal government ready to discuss constitutional change.

In a speech he said marks a change in attitude. Mr. Trudeau described his past position as among the questioners "at a time when every last trooper believed he had a new constitution in his bag."

He told the opening session of the six-day annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association "the federal government henceforth declares itself ready to discuss any constitutional changes proposed."

FIRST STEP
 The first step should be adoption of a constitutional bill of rights guaranteeing individual and linguistic rights. This could be followed by a general constitutional conference.

"We are not going to be caught in a posture of immobility," he said. "But we do desire that any changes shall take place in an orderly way and under the guidance of government responsible to the people."

ADVISED ON JUDGES
 Mr. Trudeau also revealed he has been consulting a special advisory committee of the Canadian Bar Association on the appointment of federal judges.

At a news conference, President Pierre Elliott Trudeau said the bar association announced making sup of the committee which has been advising Mr. Trudeau since he became justice minister in April.

Mr. Casgrain said the bar association suggested the move as a method to help ensure public confidence in judicial appointments. The bar's advisory committee would give its opinion on qualifications of candidates.

BOTH STRESSED
 Both Mr. Trudeau and Mr. Casgrain stressed the procedure in no way takes the final responsibility of appointing judges away from the federal government, which must make the nominations under constitutional law.

In his presidential address, Mr. Casgrain urged federal and provincial governments to establish a law reform commission to examine existing laws and draft legislation to reform inequitable laws.

ATTITUDE CHANGED
 Justice Minister Jean-Jacques Bertrand of Quebec, among the audience which heard Mr. Trudeau's speech, said: "It's a change of attitude."

In Mr. Trudeau's address, among several in a day the lawyers set aside for speech-making, he noted Prime Minister had set up committees to prepare for constitutional discussion.

The federal government is ready to discuss constitutional changes, he said, but any changes taking place should be orderly, under the guidance of government.

DELICATE MACHINE
 "We realized that a federal system was a delicate machine, easier to throw out of kilter than to start off again."

He said this course was wise, giving the country time to reflect as the federal government tried to maintain harmony among cultural and geographic regions.

But several governments, including the federal govern-

War Amps Wire Pearson For Increased Pensions

WINNIPEG (CP)—The War Amputations of Canada biennial convention here Tuesday sent a telegram to Prime Minister Pearson asking for increased pensions to disabled veterans.

The telegram asks that the 100 per cent pension of $2,700 be increased to $4,132, a wage paid by the government to unskilled workers in the federal civil service.

It said the 15-per-cent pension increase last year was unsatisfactory and that "for many years pension increases have fallen far short of the cost of living."

"Scalp tension, a sign of the times, is one cause of your hair loss," says trichologist M. D. Harrison to balding man. Harrison directs the famous Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists, whose main office is in Vancouver. He is sending a specialist here to advise men how to correct hair troubles by home treatment.

How to save and improve your hair demonstrated by expert here Thurs. & Fri.

New home treatment methods for preventing baldness — and growing thicker hair — will be demonstrated Thursday and Friday, September 7 and 8.

This news was released here today by M. D. Harrison, internationally famous director of Harrison Hair and Scalp Specialists.

In his announcement, Harrison named staff trichologist Ian Edgar to conduct the Victoria clinic. Mr. Edgar will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday and Friday in the Executive House Motor Hotel.

Examine You Free

"I want to make it clear that you incur no charge or obligation by seeing Mr. Edgar," director Harrison said. "Your only obligation is to yourself — to free your mind of worries about hair loss, dandruff, itching, or other scalp disorders, by learning how to take care of your hair. If your trouble is beyond the scope of Harrison Home treatment, we will frankly tell you so. But less than five per cent of the people we examine are 'hopeless.'"

Offers No Cure-All

Harrison emphasized that his new home treatment is neither "mail-order" nor "cure-all." "We always make a personal examination before suggesting any treatment," he pointed out. "There is no one cure-all that will correct every one of the 18 scalp disorders that cause baldness."

Harrison said that sometimes your treatment must be changed after a few weeks to get best results. "For this reason, you mail regular reports of your hair progress to the Harrison headquarters in Vancouver."

"Also, your scalp condition is checked personally by a Harrison trichologist at regular intervals."

Who Can Be Helped?

Will this new treatment cure baldness? "No," said Harrison sincerely. "We cannot help men who are sick-bald after years of gradual hair loss. But where your scalp still grows hair, we can at least save and improve what you have. Usually, we can grow more hair even where you have only 'fuzz' now."

The important thing is: Don't wait until it's too late! Best evidence of the success of Harrison treatment is the phenomenal growth behind it. Harrison and his staff trichologists do extension work in more than 100 other cities.

Leonard A. Floyd before and after scalp treatment. Untouched photographs made four months apart.

Satisfy 95%

"Our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim to do," declared Harrison. "We satisfy more than 95 per cent of our clients, and have records to prove it."

But to overcome the average man's initial skepticism is sometimes difficult. He's usually quite desperate — and balding — by the time he nerves himself to see a Harrison trichologist. He's "tried everything." So he starts consoling himself with one of the old superstitions about hair.

That baldness is hereditary; that men naturally lose hair as they get along in years; that nothing can be done to stop hair loss — and a lot of other notions that we know are not true today."

Free Scalp Examination

See Mr. Edgar in person. Learn how baldness can be stopped, and new hair grown on your own scalp. The new Harrison method permits you to actually stop your baldness and regrow hair in the privacy of your own home.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Executive House Motor Hotel Thursday or Friday, between 1 p.m. and 8 p.m. for Mr. Edgar's suite number. You don't need an appointment. You won't be embarrassed or obligated in any way. Examinations are given in private.

Demolition Set For Eyesore

Owners of the unfinished apartment building complex at the corner of Topaz and Quadra, which was described Tuesday as a health and fire hazard, will be told to get the structure down.

Members of city council public works committee decided that the owners have had plenty of warning and that the dilapidated building is not only an eyesore but a danger.

A demolition order will probably be issued at the next meeting of city council to take effect within 30 days from that date.

City Manager Dennis Young said there was some hope the building might be completed but the owners were unable to get mortgage money and the plan fell through.

Still, he added, it was difficult for the city engineer's department to find adequate grounds to order demolition. The city bylaw was far from perfect and the penalties it provided for an infraction were "ridiculous."

"This building is far more atrocious than the old YMCA building and a demolition order was obtained in that case," said Ald. Hugh Ramsay.

The windows were smashed and the frames broken, the floor and I am told that some of the things done in that building would make it a health hazard if not worse," said Ald. Cecil Disgrace and a disgrace that Parrott.

2,500 Pupils Stay Home

CALGARY (CP) — About 2,500 public school students were told to stay home Tuesday as a strike by caretakers and construction delays caused by it, forced 11 public schools to remain closed.

But other schools opened and as parents brought children to them they were presented with appeals from caretakers to "let the board members know how you feel about the way they treat us."

The 528 caretakers struck a week ago seeking a 10-per-cent pay increase over two years. The board offered 11. Present pay is $2.63 an hour.

Swedish Switch Kills Man

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Sweden's first full day of right-hand driving was fairly smooth Monday—except for the death of a 78-year-old motorist who ran into a tree as a car approached from the opposite direction.

The accident happened because Charles Andersson did not know where the right curb would be—a problem that many Swedish drivers were encountering.

Only 16 of 84 accidents throughout Sweden involved personal injury. On an average September Monday with the old left-hand system, 30 to 65 accidents resulted in personal injury.

Lars Skold, who supervised the switch Sunday, said, however:

"It will be months and years before we can call this operation a solid success, perhaps not until we have a new right-conditioned generation."

For 233 years, vehicles had kept to the left on Swedish roads, and Monday some motorists tended to lapse into old driving habits, particularly at left turns.

The actual cost of the huge operation has been officially given at about the equivalent of $126,000,000. But the final figure could be almost twice that.

All traffic was virtually stopped the day before the official changeover for last-minute preparations—changing of road signs and traffic light systems.

Arsonists Sought In Saanich

Three suspicious grass fires were doused by Saanich firemen at about 11 a.m. Tuesday, two near Prospect Lake and another on Burnside.

At the same time, View Royal volunteers were called to a grass fire on their side of Burnside.

Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Suiterland said he has the same suspicions that were raised when his department was called to a series of grass fires two weeks ago.

NEAR SCENE

He said residents near the scenes of Tuesday's fires reported seeing a car in the area, and this was being investigated.

The fires stretched Saanich's fire cover, and one fire near the Gregarah Golf Club got a hold while a unit from Shelbourne fire hall was heading toward it, the chief said.

Last month, the B.C. Forest Service said it feared an arsonist was starting fires in the Langford ranger district.

The fires, two on the Malahat and one near Sooke, started in areas where there were no people.

TWO TRIES

Two attempts were made to start fires in the city Monday, Victoria police reported.

Barry Robertson, 17, of Richmond, B.C., used his shirt to beat out a grass fire started on RCMP property at 701 Sea Terrace Monday afternoon. Three boys were seen near the blaze.

Toilet paper was lit in the women's washroom at the A and W Drive-In, 1921 Oak Bay, Sunday night, and placed on top of the toilet bowl. No damage was done.

$19,360 worth of Mercedes-Benz cars and why they're worth it.

Mercedes-Benz 250S Sedan, $8,515.

Mercedes-Benz 250SL Coupe, $9,120.

Mercedes-Benz 200 Diesel Sedan, $4,725.

YOU can buy cheaper sedans than the 250S, cheaper sports cars than the 250SL, and cheaper economy sedans than the 200 Diesel. But if they don't perform as well or last as long, they're no bargain. And the bald fact is that few cars perform as well or last as long as those built by Mercedes-Benz.

The reason: Mercedes-Benz builds its cars up to a standard, not down to a price. Read more about the 250S, the 200 Diesel, and the 250SL—and find why each one is worth every penny of its cost.

250S: the "luxury" car without an ounce of fat.

If you're weary of spongy riding, sloppy steering, overstuffed status symbols, the 250S provides a refreshing change.

This is one $6500 sedan that bases its appeal on superior engineering, not mere pomp. As a result, it utterly outruns its rivals. And yet it does so while carrying you and four passengers in hushed comfort: "There is as little engine noise at 100 mph as at a standstill," wrote one automotive journalist after a brisk test run.

The reasons why

Some engineering features you get in the 250S not found among its major competitors: a fully independent suspension system designed to excel on the worst roads of the world as well as the best; 4-wheel disc brakes that draw you down to smooth, level stops—and banish heart-stopping brake fade from your driving life; and a 4-speed automatic transmission you can shift like a manual gearbox.

The 250S even has a shock absorber built into its steering system. High-speed, 6-ply rated tires are standard. And an automatic load-leveling device, built into the rear axle, is standard as well.

A nit-picker's despair

Your 250S will make most other $6500 cars look shabby by comparison. Its deep, firmly padded, armchair-like front seats are hand-sewn and hand-trimmed in the company's own upholstery shop. Slender fillets of genuine walnut adorn the windowsills. The final enamel body coat is hand-sprayed, then hand-rubbed.

Showroom snoopers: Check the underside of the dash—you'll find it's fully trimmed and finished, too.

200 Diesel: an economy car so economical it doesn't use gasoline.

Mercedes-Benz pioneered the building of Diesel-powered passenger cars 31 years ago. Company engineers had a hunch that the Diesel's advantages of low upkeep and long life would find a ready market.

The engineers' hunch was right. Mercedes-Benz has built 500,000 Diesels since 1936. And a recent survey found that over 87% are still running.

A Diesel engine sidesteps the combustion methods used in gasoline power plants—and does away with spark plugs, points, condensers, even carburetors.

Diesel fuel is injected directly into the combustion chambers, where it's ignited by the heat of sheer pressure instead of a spark. The Diesel principle is so efficient that far less fuel is wasted—and so powerful that a 200 Diesel engine's compression ratio is twice that of a Cadillac.

Diesel murmur

This powerful compression helps cause a sound commonly called "Diesel knock," most noticeable at idling speed. It's more of a "Diesel murmur" these days.

With its sturdy components, simplified design and economic diesel fuel supply, the 200 Diesel can actually shave running costs down to the amount you'd spend to drive a small gasoline economy car. And remember that a single tankful can take you more than 500 miles.

This is an economy car?

Aside from its low running costs, the 200 Diesel shows few signs of being an "economy" model. You ride on a fully independent suspension. You stop with the power of front (power-assisted) disc brakes. Inside, there is ample space for five normal-sized adults.

And the rest of your 200 Diesel should last as long as that hardy engine.

Its heavy-gauge steel body is welded in 10,000 spots, coated with 24 pounds of primer and 24 more pounds of permanent plasticized undercoating, and patiently hand-sanded before painting. When it is painted, it's painted three times.

250SL: at last—a sports car for grown-ups.

This largely hand-assembled two-seater is a sports car for grown-ups. It doesn't ride like an oxcart, look like a rocket ship or sound like a Grand Prix racing machine.

Standard comforts include contoured, orthopedically designed seats with reclining backrests; 7 separate heating and ventilation controls (with a set for both driver and passenger); and 28 1/4 inches of forward legroom—more than many luxury sedans.

Yet the 250SL also performs. Its fuel-injection, 6-cylinder, single-overhead camshaft engine could loaf all day at 101 mph (if legal). And that sophisticated, rear swing-axle suspension has earned high praise for its road-holding abilities.

The 250SL stops, too—with the sure stopping power of a 4-wheel disc brake system.

Carlings Sweep Final By Edging Rocks, 6-5

By KEVAN HULL

Vancouver Carlings wouldn't rattle in the final period and defeated Victoria Shamrocks, 6-5, before 2,201 fans at Memorial Arena to take the best-of-seven Inter-City Lacrosse League finals in four straight games.

Gord Fredrickson scored the winning goal for the Carlings in the final period, his second of the night. Barry Forbes came out of his net to help Tommy Collett who beat two Vancouver players to the ball in the corner.

"I saw Ted (Lieblich) as I fell," Collett explained, "and tried to pass out. I couldn't see Barry."

The ball went straight to Fredrickson and he beat the diving Forbes cleanly to put Vancouver ahead, 6-4. Victoria couldn't buy a goal in the first two periods, but came back on solo efforts to throw a scare into the Carlings.

With Skip Chapman playing brilliantly throughout the game, Vancouver took a 2-0 lead into the third period on first period tallies by Bob Salt and Bob Babcock.

While the first and second periods seemed rather listless with both clubs hesitant to open up, the third period was one of the most exciting 20 minutes of the season.

A limping Jack Showers set the screen that enabled Ray Beel to break Chapman's shutout spell at 1:05 of the third period with an underhanded bounce to the left corner.

Then Ranjit Dillon stole the ball and ran the length of the floor, beating Chapman to tie the game exactly two minutes later.

COLLETT BREAKS TIE

Shamrocks started to dominate play but with Glenn Vickers hitting a post-and, Chapman stopping Showers on a break-through play from Dillon, Victoria couldn't get the lead until Collett stormed the length of the floor and scored at 8:32.

Bill Robinson helped steady Vancouver down before they could panic and made three great plays to set up Vancouver goals that gave Carlings a 5-4 lead.

Gord Fredrickson and Gord Lieblicher took Robinson passes and beat Forbes before Tom Black tied the score at 4-4 from Dillon's pass at 13:30.

NEVER HEADED

But Salt was set up for his second goal of the night by Robinson, a minute later, and Vancouver was never headed the rest of the way.

Ted Lieblich, a standout all night for the Rocks, made it 5-6, but Vancouver put on the stall and Chapman, who finished with 32 stops, blocked hard shots by Lieblich and Billy Gray.

It was a tough luck finish to a great season for Shamrocks, who were in the thick of the fight for first place until late in the season when Carlings finally hit their peak.

Vancouver now meets the Ontario winners in the Mann Cup finals which will be played Tuesday.

Holiday Results Help Lions

CFL Tables Look Familiar

Canadian Football League standings looked more familiar than ever after a Labor Day schedule which involved eight of the nine clubs.

Saskatchewan Roughriders and Calgary Stampeders both scored their fifth win in six games to move well ahead of the three have-nots in the Western Conference.

And Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats again seem set to allow Toronto Argonauts and Montreal Alouettes to fight it out for the last playoff spot in the Eastern Conference.

Gaining momentum as the game went along, Stampeders averaged 30 earlier defeat by grinding down Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 34-6, before 22,561 Calgary fans. Saskatchewan did what was needed to whip Edmonton Eskimos, 18-6, before a record Saskatchewan crowd of 21,673 fans.

THERE TO TAKE
Defeat of the Bombers and Eskimos left B.C. Lions in better than a hoping position for the last Western playoff spot.

Lions' one victory in six starts leaves them only two points away from third place and the Lions have a game in hand on the Eskimos.

Stampeders got 420 yards passing the ball and 112 running against the Bombers, who gained only seven yards on the ground and 183 in the air.

Celtic Bests Penarol, 2-1

GLASGOW (AP) — Glasgow Celtic, European club champion, defeated Penarol of Uruguay 2-1 Wednesday night and boosted its chances of becoming the world's top club team.

The match, before 65,000 fans, was a warmup for the Scottish team's clash against the Racing Club of Argentina to decide the world club championship.

The dates between Celtic and the Racing Club still have to be decided.

LONDON (CP) — Results of the only British match today:
Pembroke 100 for 7 declared and 141 for 9 declared; T. H. Pearce's XI 210 for 7 declared and 144 for 6. Match drawn.

After being ahead only 11-0 after the first half, Stampeders pulled as Jerry Lima threw two touchdown passes to Terry Evanshen and one each to Gerry Shaw and Lovell Coleman, who went 78 yards, in the last two quarters.

Lima scored a second-quarter touchdown and Bill Goods got the other points on four converts, a field goal and two singles on wide field-goal attempts.

Bombers again played without regular-quarterback Kerry Ploen and Bill Van Burkleo handled the signal-calling. Van Burkleo injured a knee early in the game and could hardly move his leg when the game ended.

Edmonton put up a good effort against the Riders but couldn't contain Hugh Campbell and scored only on Pete Kemp's two field-goals.

Campbell accepted two touchdown passes from Ron Lancaster. Jack Abendach converted both and kicked a field goal and the other point came on a long punt by Al Ford.

BOTH HAD TROUBLE
In the East, the Tiger-Cats mauled the Argos, 12-6, and Ottawa overcame a slow start to down Montreal, 17-5.

Tiger-Cats, who left three Argos injured with their bruising play, got a touchdown from Dick Cobbe, a convert and a field goal from Tommy-Joe Coffey and two singles from Joe Eugen.

Argos, who had what would have been the tying field goal blocked late in the game, got a touchdown from Mel Profit, a convert and a single from John Vilunas and a single from Dave Mann.

Profit's touchdown was on a 35-yard, third-down pass from Mann, who threw from punt formation.

Russ Jackson didn't get much protection from his line but he hit Whit Tucker for 29 and 92-yard touchdown passes. Ottawa's other points came from two conversions and a single by Moe Racine and a safety touch.

Alouettes could only manage a field goal, from 45 yards, by Ron Parson and two singles from punter Dave Lewis.

To Form National XI

WINNIPEG (CP) — United Western soccer club of Winnipeg announced plans to select a team which will form the core for a Canadian national soccer team, on a permanent basis, for future international competition.

As a first step in forming a Canadian select team to be based in Winnipeg, the manager of United Western club, Jim Stevens, said 25 amateur players will be invited soon to attend a training camp in Winnipeg. He said most of the players will come from the Winnipeg area although some are expected to be invited from cities in western Canada. The group of 25 will be reduced to a 15-player squad which will represent Canada in a four-game international soccer series in Bermuda in December. Bermuda's national team has also been invited to visit Canada to play the same national select team in a four-game series next July.

George Anderson, secretary of the Canadian Soccer Football Association, represents the Canadian soccer body with the select team.

Ellefson Scores Second Victory In Daffodil Cup

Norm Ellefson, former Edmontonian now driving out of Spokane became the third two-time winner of the Daffodil Cup at Western Speedway Monday with a great race in the featured 100-lap race for modifieds.

Going into the main event, the defending champion and current Canadian-American Modified Racing Association's top driver held a slim one point lead over Victoria's Al Smith.

Ellefson started 15th in the field of 17 starters for the final race and Smith was 16th with Vancouver rookie Larry Sproule in the last position.

RACE DELAYED
The Spokane driver had worked his way up to fourth place by the fifth lap, when the race was halted temporarily as Frank Janset of Calgary and Bud Hoelsie of Boise clashed on the first turn with Hoelsie's car catching on fire.

Both cars got back in the race.

The delay gave Smith a second chance as he had spun out on the third lap and was almost a lap behind the leaders when the race was halted but under the close-order restart, he regained almost everything that he had lost.

TAKES CHARGE
Ellefson poured it on when the race resumed, took a half-lap lead by the 10th lap and was never again threatened.

Smith managed to work his way up to second place at one point but Sproule quickly took over and hung on to finish behind Ellefson with Smith third.

Smith finished second over all and Sproule was third.

Fine Netminding Holds O'Keefes

John Camacho, the most valuable player in the Kennedy Cup competition this year, was the dominant player again as Seattle Hungarians held Victoria O'Keefes to a 2-2 draw in an exhibition soccer match Monday at Royal Athletic Park.

A BIT ROUGH
The agile goalkeeper, who has moved to Seattle from San Francisco, was the only player on his team to stand out throughout the game, which was marred at times by rough Seattle's play.

The second half of the game was scoreless largely due to some fantastic saves by Camacho just before full time, starting with a leaping catch on a screamer by George Ball which was heading for the top right corner.

Camacho then stopped Peter Wilson, O'Keefes' most dangerous attacker, twice when the little forward was all alone in front of the net.

O'KEEFES LEAD
Wilson set up O'Keefes first goal when Peter Brett scored in a goal-mouth scramble but Seattle came back with goals by John Phelps and Ted Budal.

Jim Menzies persevered in a goal-mouth scramble to net the tying goal for O'Keefes.

As it was a game to try out new players, unlimited substitution was permitted, giving the fans a good opportunity to see the depth of talent in the Victoria camp this season.

STOOD OUT
Brian Robinson, a graduate from Victoria High and Victoria West ranks, looked good on the half-line while Ray Telford, Peter Wheaton and Wilson all showed good moves and positional play.

Casper Defeats Geiberger Second Big Canadian Win

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. — Monday brought still another Canadian golf victory for Billy Casper.

He sank a three-foot putt for a par four on the first extra hole to defeat Al Geiberger for the $20,000 first prize in the $200,000 World Open tournament.

BOTH MISSED GREEN
Geiberger and Casper both missed the green with their approach shots but Geiberger's second was eight feet away and he missed his putt.

Geiberger took the lead in Sunday's third round but slipped to a 72 Monday while Casper finished with a rush to post a 69 which gave him a share of the lead. Both had three-under-par 281s for the scheduled 72 holes.

It was the second Canadian win this year for Casper, who defeated Art Wall in an 18-hole playoff earlier this summer to win the Canadian Open.

The two Canadian victories are the only tournament wins this year for Casper, who scored the first of his lifetime 35 tournament victories in Quebec City in 1956.

HE'S CONSISTENT
Geiberger held off Monday against several challenges until he reached the final green. There, an 18-foot putt missed by an inch and he settled for a par. However, it was the 27th consecutive tournament in which he has won prize money and the $17,000 he won Monday kept him well up on the list of 1967 money-winners.

Casper, leading money-winner last year, has finished in the top 10 in 10 of 20 tournaments this year and Monday's payoff boosted his 1967 earnings to $105,267.12.

Geiberger held off Monday against several challenges until he reached the final green. There, an 18-foot putt missed by an inch and he settled for a par. However, it was the 27th consecutive tournament in which he has won prize money and the $17,000 he won Monday kept him well up on the list of 1967 money-winners.

Casper, leading money-winner last year, has finished in the top 10 in 10 of 20 tournaments this year and Monday's payoff boosted his 1967 earnings to $105,267.12.

Sanders Bounced After Objection

WOODBRIDGE, Ont. — Doug Sanders was bounced from the $200,000 World golf championship Sunday after a verbal exchange with an official of the Professional Golfers Association.

Sanders, who shot a 69 for a 54-hole score of 216, objected to a ruling which permitted him to drop his ball following a tee shot which landed near a television cable. He felt he should have had the drop on the green side of the cable.

He played his shot and got his par, then had words with the official who made the ruling.

Some heating fuels give you "extras" you'd be better off without. Like fumes and soot. With electric heat, no fuel is burned so no dirt is created to mar your furnishings. You get even, comfortable heat; operating costs are low, and your heating system requires little or no maintenance. Come to think of it, electric heat does give you one extra... the extra resale value it adds to your home. As the trend to all-electric living continues, more and more homebuyers will be demanding modern, efficient electric heat. That could mean a lot when the time comes to sell.

14,000 homeowners have made Electric Heat B.C.'s hottest seller!

Youth Guilty of Drunken, Impaired Driving

An 18-year-old youth, arrested Aug. 25 for drunken driving, was picked up Sunday morning reversing his car on Caledonia and charged with impaired driving.

Robert Travis of CFB Esquimalt pleaded guilty in both charges when he appeared in central magistrate's court Tuesday.

He was sentenced to 14 days jail for drunken driving and fined $300 for impaired driving. His licence was suspended for one year and he pleaded guilty.

FOLLOWED CLOSELY

Prosecutor Cory Stolte said Travis was seen by police following a car closely on Douglas Aug. 26. When stopped, Travis was unsteady on his feet and thumbed past his driver's licence in his wallet three times.

'SAD THING'

On Sunday morning, Travis hit a parked car as he reversed on Caledonia and about 100 feet later struck a utility pole. He gave a breathalyzer count of .10 per cent.

Magistrate William Ostler said: "It is a sad thing to see a boy of your age this way with alcohol."

George Vaux, 34, of 536 Johnson, was sentenced to two months in jail when he pleaded guilty to shoplifting from Eaton's Saturday afternoon. Vaux stole clothing and canned goods valued at $43.25. He admitted previous convictions of forgery, attempted theft and false pretences.

John Morgan, 58, of 1233 Roy, was sentenced to 30 days in jail and had his licence suspended for 18 months when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving.

He was convicted of the same offence August, 1966. He was stopped Saturday morning after driving erratically on the Patricia Bay Highway.

A man who attempted to steal a $100 table saw from a house under construction in the 4500-block Edgewood Aug. 27 was sentenced to one day in jail and fined $250.

Warren Sweeney, 494 Fraser, and his brother-in-law, Arthur Kerr, 1220 Bewdley, pleaded guilty to attempted theft when they appeared in court last week.

Kerr was given a suspended sentence and placed on a $250 bond for one year.

Ray Taylor of Sidney was fined $300 and had his licence suspended when he pleaded guilty to impaired driving. He was arrested Monday night after his car was seen weaving on the Patricia Bay Highway.

Julius Szeremley of 101 Ontario was placed on a $50 bond for six months when he was found guilty of the common assault of Mrs. Jessie Pollock

Aug. 23. Mrs. Pollock said she was assaulted when Szeremley claimed her son had hit his daughter.

William Morgan, 1468 Thurmal, was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place. He was one of several people drinking beer Monday in a car parked in the grounds of S. J. Willis Junior High School, court was told.

Norman Carr, 20, CFB Esquimalt, was fined $35 for being a minor in possession of alcohol and $35 for tossing two beer bottles onto Johnson Street on Aug. 28.

Ronald Dudley, 543 Manchester, was fined $35 for being a minor in possession of alcohol.

Fined in traffic court for careless driving: Darryl Chan, 2100 Cook, $40; Roy Hugel, 631 Hillside, $35; Brett Morgan, 1915 Casa Marcia, $35.

High-Volt Wire Kills Girl, 6

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—Six year-old Cathryn Anne Moffatt, died Tuesday when a high voltage wire fell on a parked car occupied by five young children.

Another child, Wendy Dimor, suffered an undetermined burns when the 7,200-volt wire fell on the car. Mrs. Elsie Moffatt, mother of the victim, suffered from shock.

Witness Mrs. H. M. Yurko said she saw the wire fall, hit the ground, the witness said.

Montreal Man Stripped

A 23-year-old Montreal man was stripped of a $125 suit by five men believed to be in their early 20s, near the Brookleigh Road boat ramp Tuesday morning.

Richard Gravel told Saanich police he arrived in Victoria from Vancouver Monday night and at about 2 a.m. he met the men in the city.

He asked them where he could get a place to sleep and one of them told him he could sleep in his boat, Mr. Gravel said.

REMOVED TROUSERS

They then drove to Brookleigh Road, where Mr. Gravel said one of the men struck him and the others removed his trousers.

Also taken were his wallet, which contained 20 cents, his suit coat, tie clip and cufflinks. Value of the property stolen was estimated at $140.

Mr. Gravel was given lodgings for the night in the Saanich cells and outfitted Tuesday morning with a pair of trousers. Saanich detectives are investigating.

Between $300 and $700 was stolen from a drawer at Victoria Beverages, 2941 Bridge, overnight Saturday. Thieves forced a rear door to gain entry, city detectives said.

Thieves stole $30 from a woman's purse left in a locked station wagon at Douglas and Superior Monday afternoon.

Donald Thompson of Sunnyvale, Calif., told police a vent window had been forced.

$2,440,000 in 15 Years

Build Up Personality, Oak Bay Told

Rerouting of Oak Bay Avenue would develop this large but cosy shopping 'village'

By JOHN MATTERS

Oak Bay should spend $2,440,000 during the next 15 years mainly enriching its natural attributes, the Capital Region Planning Board suggested in a report Tuesday night.

The plan proposes a network of leisurely paths connecting parks, more space for strolling, shopping districts where residents can peacefully perambulate, more apartments and rejuvenated family dwellings.

Top priority items — they come to $1,345,500 — include development of six park areas, extension of Haro Road, a $850,000 recreation centre on Foul Bay Road and $140,000 worth of greenways, coastal paths and promenades.

NATURAL THINGS

"Oak Bay's success and popularity as a place to live is founded on the natural attractions of trees, rocks, bays and headlands — the combined appeal of land and sea," says the report.

"The preservation of the best examples of this natural heritage should form one of the main components of open space policy."

WIDE CIRCULATION

After hearing A. H. Roberts, the planning board's director, councillors decided the report should be given as wide a circulation as possible.

Reeve Alan Cox said that, while council hadn't discussed the proposals, it's unlikely any of the items needing money would be designed to the stage that they could be included in a referendum this December.

FOOTPATH SYSTEM

One of the prime recommendations is a system of footpaths that would provide a continuous pedestrian way throughout the municipality.

No home would be more than half a mile from such a path, and the system "can be accepted as a unique skeleton upon which the whole residential structure can rest."

ONE REASON

The planners said one reason for suggesting this type of recreation facility is the fact Oak Bay has a predominantly elderly population, which prefers parks with walks, gardens and views.

They also pointed out no part of Oak Bay is more than two miles from the sea. Three of the eight miles of sea frontage are open to the public year-round by way of streets or paths.

SEA POLLUTION

To take full advantage of these potentials, Oak Bay should avoid and reduce sea pollution and acquire as much seaside space as possible. However, this has its limits because, at present prices, all private property on the beach would be worth about $10,000,000.

The Capital Region Planning Board also suggests the municipality develop a single park which is a showpiece "not necessarily large or costly, but distinctive."

OLDER HOMES

The board also says council should adopt a policy which would encourage owners of older homes to improve their dwellings. Two improvement areas could be set up, and council could have prepared booklets describing how renovations can be made.

The planners suggest the municipality give priority to streets and boulevards in such improvement areas.

VILLAGE PROJECT

The report suggests a $335,000 revitalization of Oak Bay village, the largest shopping area in the municipality.

It would involve moving Oak Bay Avenue north, turning the present Oak Bay Avenue into a pedestrian mall between Yale and Monterey. There would be an apartment cluster to the north and a home improvement area to the south.

NEW SHOPS

Features of the new Oak Bay Village would be shops with distinctively designed entrances, small greens and "conversation corners," underground wiring and free crossing at all points for pedestrians.

However, this will need better access to the north — possibly extension of Cadboro Bay Road to link with Hampshire — and a new loop road to the north.

CAPITAL BUDGET

"Although Oak Bay will have a continuous call upon its resources for street maintenance and improvement, it will not be faced with major transportation problems in the near future," says the report.

The planners suggest their recommendations could be implemented by taking a capital budget to the ratepayers.

Planners Say So

It IS the Land Of Tea, Tweeds

All those things they say about Oak Bay are true.

The Capital Region Planning Board's report on the long-range needs of the municipality, released Tuesday night, confirms Oak Bay indeed is the land of tea and tweeds.

As the planners put it: "It is a stable and affluent community... with a distinct blend of attitudes and values."

Its population, 88 per cent of which is of British origin, has three times the national average of elderly. The report says 21 per cent of Oak Bay's citizens are more than 65 years old.

Oak Bay residents have the highest level of education of all Greater Victoria municipalities, and the highest wage median and salaries. Of the employed persons, 40 per cent were in the professional and managerial classifications.

Negative Ratio

However, the community will have to depend on migrants for its growth, because deaths exceed births.

During the last five years, there has been an average of 81 more deaths than births per year.

"In relation to the region, the homes have the largest number of rooms and they are largely owner-occupied," says the report, which adds only one-third of the homeowners have mortgages.

There were 5,600 employed people but only 800 — or one in seven — actually worked within Oak Bay's boundaries. The remainder had jobs elsewhere in the Greater Victoria area.

"While Oak Bay has relationships with the whole and parts of the region, it does have a special connection with Victoria," says the report. "Today, downtown provides not only a place of work for many Oak Bay residents, but also business service and, to some extent, a cultural and entertainment centre."

Report Against It

Widening of Marine Could Be Offensive

Widening Marine Drive to four lanes would create an offensive speedway through Oak Bay, the Capital Region Planning Board said Tuesday night.

"A faster, four-lane highway would disturb many of the amenities which the recreational motorist and resident enjoy," says the report presented to municipal council.

While there may be congestion on Marine Drive now during Sundays and holidays, it lasts for only a few hours. A wider highway would attract more drivers.

The planners also suggest that, in both public and private developments, every effort be made to preserve trees and the natural landscape.

"When possible, electrical and telephone services should be underground and if overhead routes are unavoidable, a minimum of tree-pruning should be done," says the report.

Not a Subsidy

Ottawa Defended On Winter Work

The provincial government and municipalities should not be "crying" over Ottawa's plans to reduce its winter work subsidy, says a report from the Capital Region Planning Board.

Reeve Alan Cox of Oak Bay said Tuesday night.

"This was an economic device of the federal government to control unemployment, not a subsidy for local governments," he said in an interview.

"It was meant to keep employment high. I haven't noticed much unemployment around here."

Works Minister Marchand last month announced Ottawa was reducing from 50 to 25 per cent its share of the wage bills on approved winter work projects in all but "poor" areas.

Reeve Cox's views clash with those of Municipal Affairs Minister Campbell and Reeve Curtis of Saanich, who both criticized the federal move.

"Everyone has been crying as if it was a vested right of the municipalities," said Reeve Cox. "This isn't so, and I don't think any municipality in this area can cry until its unemployment situation is severe."

He said he did not recall any protests when the provincial government reduced its contribution to the winter work program two or three years ago.

Mayhew Rites Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Grace Mayhew, wife of former federal cabinet minister and ambassador to Japan, R. W. Mayhew, will be held in McCall's chapel starting at 3 p.m., today. Mrs. Mayhew died Saturday at the age of 89.

Back to Books For 40,000

School children surged back into the classrooms briefly Tuesday to begin the 1967-68 term.

By the time kindergarten youngsters are enrolled next week nearly 40,000 children from Sooke to Sidney will be in school.

Exact enrolments weren't known on Tuesday. Reports will come in from the schools over the next few days.

Greater Victoria School District's total is expected to top 23,000.

In Sooke School District, superintendent Ernest Hyndman said enrolment will be close to 5,000, including the Belmont Park division.

A three-room addition plus library has been opened at Glen Lake elementary school, said Mr. Hyndman.

HEAVY ENROLMENT

The three-room Dogwood School for retarded children of Sooke and Saanich school districts also is completed, adjoining Langford elementary school.

Additions will be ready at Oakwood elementary in October, at Sangster elementary in November, and at Savory elementary by Christmas, said Mr. Hyndman.

Unexpectedly heavy enrolment at Elizabeth Fisher and Dunsen junior high schools will require one extra teacher at both schools, the superintendent added.

In Saanich school district, superintendent F. A. McLeish said registration at Clarendon Senior Secondary School was heavier than anticipated.

Belated Report Costly for City

Failure to inform the insurance company promptly of the loss of an $11,000 marine current meter cost the city a bill of $2,889, members of public works committee were told Tuesday.

The valuable piece of equipment was being used by divers off Clover Point in connection with tidal studies being carried out by the city engineer's department as preparation for the extension of the sewage outfall off the point.

LOST MAY 8

A report submitted by city manager Tuesday said the meter was lost May 8.

The controller-treasurer was not notified of the loss until July 26, according to the manager's report, and it was then that a claim was made to the insurance company.

Meanwhile, a search for the

Thunder Visits Victoria

A noisy electrical storm passed near Victoria at 9:15 p.m. Tuesday, accompanied by gusty winds and about one-fifth of an inch of rain. The weather office did not expect a recurrence today, when clouds and some showers are likely in the morning, followed by sunny periods in the afternoon. More showers are due Thursday.

To Sprinkle

Victoria Gets Another Hour

Confident that there's a steady rain just around the corner, water commissioner Ronald Upward Tuesday announced a relaxation in sprinkling regulations.

Although only one more hour of sprinkling is allowed, the hours are more flexible.

Sprinkling will now be allowed from 6 a.m. until 7 p.m. instead of to noon as formerly, and from 8 p.m. until 11 p.m. instead of until midnight as formerly.

Consumption of water has ranged around the 22,500,000-gallon mark daily for more than a week now and Greater Victoria Water District officials have ceased to worry.

As long as the total remains at the 22,500,000 mark or below there are no worries.

On Friday, the day of the rain, only 14,000,000 gallons were drawn from the watershed.

Saatchi restrictions on the use of domestic incinerators have been lifted, Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Sutherland said Tuesday.

Stampeding Herd Needs Schooling

School safety patrols to deal with stampeding Equimait pedestrians who "flagrantly disregard all signs and signals" were recommended by Coun. William Bell at Monday's traffic committee meeting.

He made the recommendation after hearing municipal engineer William Gerry, and Police Chief Earl Sarlat describe bottleneck traffic conditions on Canby Road, at Yarrow and Dockyard workers leave.

Mr. Gerry said that at about 4:15 p.m. each day, large numbers of pedestrians, who apparently have a "couldn't care less" attitude toward traffic are disgorged from Yarrow. The stampeding pedestrians, he said, completely disregard all normal traffic signals, both in walking and driving.

"They ignore all signs and signals," he said, "and I don't know that the people are ready for any assistance or direction from us."

Gordon Head Complaint

Rats Plague Resident

An angry Gordon Head resident refused to play piper for Saanich health authorities, council was told Tuesday night.

Gordon Webb, spokesman for a Wenman Drive delegation, said that open manure piles and horses kept on a seven-tenths of an acre property in his area was bringing rats into the district.

He said this was the first time he had seen rats near his home at 2174 Wenman, and when he had complained to municipal health authorities he was offered poison bait to kill off the pests.

"I'm not inducing the rats so I don't see why I should have to go and fight them," he told council.

Mr. Webb said there were three horses on the property Tuesday morning where formerly there had been two.

"The introduction of the third horse was the final straw," he said.

Council acknowledged a petition from the area bearing 53 signatures objecting to the land with the horses being zoned for farming and residential.

Reeve Hugh Curtis told the delegation the property is to be discussed at a public hearing at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday and possibly it will be rezoned to just residential.

NONCONFORMING

However, he noted that rezoning a property cannot be made retroactive, and the land could still pasture horses under nonconforming use.

In other council business Couns. Edith Gunning, William

Noel, Alan Newberry, William Campbell, Ed Lum and the reeve were named as Saanich delegates to the Union of B.C. Mayors convention at Prince George from Sept. 18 to 22.

Coun. Harold Todd was appointed acting reeve from Sept. 18 to 24.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: perhaps you will say my problem is nothing compared with a woman whose husband is an alcoholic and beats her, but I need to talk to someone. Please don't suggest I talk to my clergyman because he wishes he had a dozen more like "good old Joe."

Joe is a "committee-man." He is on 11 committees which involve church, business and civic causes. With only one car and a tight budget, I am left at home almost every evening. When I try to talk to Joe about this he says, "It's for a good cause."

The children idolize their father because they don't see him very much. When he is at home it is one big picnic. He plays with them as if he were a kid himself — no discipline, just fun and games. He is the swell guy and I am the mean one.

Everyone in town thinks Joe is terrific. He gets medals, awards, and praise galore. In the meantime I am — ALONE ALOT

Dear Alone: In order to change your husband you'd have to start with his grandmother. Men (and women, too) who give so much of themselves to the community that nothing is left for the family, pay a high price for the medals and awards. But they love the glory because it makes them feel important. Hire a sitter and go with him whenever you can. In the meantime continue to discipline the kids and be "the mean one." They'll thank you in a few years.

Dear Ann Landers: Tell that bride whose husband doubted her chastity, to run, not walk, to the nearest counselor. If that fails, advise her to get an annulment.

Nineteen years ago I married a man who told me on our wedding night that he was surprised to discover I was a virgin because a friend of his had told him that he knew from experience that I was not. The informer was a sorcerer, determined to get even with me for rejecting him.

Last night my husband kept me up until 2 a.m. insisting that I break down and tell him the truth once and for all. I asked him if he was trying to drive me out of my mind or out of our marriage. He said he couldn't help it, that he had been brooding over this for years and I had never convinced him I was telling the truth. When I asked why he would take the word of an angry 18-year-old boy against mine — a faithful, loving wife of nearly 20 years — there was no answer. Do you have any advice for me? — JUST CRUSHED

Dear Just: Yes. Accept the fact that your husband has a sick mind. If he refuses to talk this out with a professional, then you must resolve never again to respond to his punishing attacks.

When he gets on the subject, simply say, "I have nothing more to say on this subject" and make no further comment.

MOSCOW (AP) — A British model wearing an evening gown with a peekaboo circle just above the navel won a roar of applause Saturday at Moscow's fashion show.

It was the first day for British models at the Sports Palace, where the fashions of the world are being paraded before Russian audiences.

Michael Whittaker, the British producer, said his show got compliments from all sides. "The Americans called it the greatest, the French said it was fantastic, and the Russians said they had never seen anything like it," Whittaker said. Hit of the show was the peekaboo evening gown worn by Mary Keates.

Other out-of-town guests were Mrs. William Sims Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Ron Walsfield of Nanaimo, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bix of North Surrey, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. Murray Marchmont and Mr. and Mrs. Barry Pass, all of Campbell River; Mr. and Mrs. Rod Noble of Prince George, Mr. Lee Higginbotham and Mr. Dennis Crookbanks, both of Burns Lake, B.C.

Wrong Relic

ROME (AP) — Marina Cusani thought the object she had dug out of the sand at the Tiber River's mouth was a 2,000-year-old relic. She slashed with a knife at the sediment surrounding it, then used a hammer and chisel. What emerged was a second World War artillery shell. Police said Miss Cusani was lucky her blows didn't set it off.

open housing marches in Milwaukee until almost dawn Tuesday, and fatal police shootings taught off violence in Texas, Ark., and Brooklyn, N.Y. In Richmond, Va., Black Power advocate H. Rap Brown battled extradition to Maryland to face riot charges, and at Montgomery, a three-judge federal panel issued an order blocking the state of Alabama from implementing a new law which would permit public school children to pick the race of their teachers.

ERUPTED MONDAY
The Brooklyn disturbance erupted Monday night when a Negro plainclothes detective opened fire on Richard Ross, a 16-year-old Negro boy who allegedly was among a group of youths attempting to mug a 73-year-old man. A shot by detective John Rattley struck Ross in the back of the head, and about 400 Negroes responded by pouring into the streets and hurling rocks and firebombs. An anti-poverty worker helped restore order in the area.

FELTED AUTOS
There was a similar occurrence in Texas when bands of Negroes began pelting passing autos with rocks Monday night following the police shooting of an 80-year-old Negro man, J. R. Lilly.

Officers said Lilly opened fire on them when they responded to a complaint that a Negro man was chasing a woman with a gun. Lilly reportedly was shot six times.

IGNORE SCHOOL
In Milwaukee, Rev. James E. Groppi called on his open housing marchers to ignore the opening of school Tuesday until officials bow to their demands. He denied he was calling a school boycott. "All we're saying," he said, "is that this (the marches) is more important than going to a third-rate school."

Father Groppi started his demonstrations Aug. 28, four weeks after a racial riot flared in Milwaukee. He slammed the demonstrations over the Labor Day holiday with marches on Monday afternoon and continued throughout the night.

The rare visitor

For B.C. Zoological First In Victoria Nest

The first nesting mockingbird in British Columbia has been discovered near Victoria.

It was a lone female, which had built a nest in a cotoneaster and laid four eggs.

"Regrettably, no male bird was seen so the hope of raising any young was lost," said Dr. D. B. Sparling, president of the Victoria Natural History Society.

He explained that the mockingbird, whose normal breeding range extends as far north as the interior of California, was far out of its territory and has been seen here rarely.

The bird was first spotted by Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Hope, 5040 Lockhaven Drive.

The Natural History Society collected the nest and its eggs after they didn't hatch, and gave them to the provincial museum.

Shulton Rediscovered Centuries-old Beauty Ingredient . . .

Introduces Desert Flower with Aloe Vera for Skin Care

If Mother Nature can keep a plant blooming in the desert, why can't she do the same for a woman's skin? She can. Now Shulton uses one of Mother Nature's own beauty ingredients, amazing aloe vera gel, in new Desert Flower skin care products: Moisture Base, Cleanser, Night Cream, Skin Toner and Hand and Body Lotion.

This precious gel keeps the aloe vera plant smooth and soft even in intense desert heat. Imagine how moist it can keep a woman's skin! Shulton has also included other special ingredients that supplement the natural workings of aloe vera and keep the skin even more fresh and supple. Now it's possible to use Mother Nature's own secrets—and to improve on them—all at the same time!

Come in and see Aloe Vera being demonstrated in our Cosmetic Department by Leone Langlois.

Professional Not Needed

A suggestion by Jerry Gooley that what the district needed was a full time entertainment co-ordinator was given a cool reception Tuesday at a meeting of the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal Committee.

Mr. Gooley said, in his letter to the committee, that a number of important events would be taking place in the area after Centennial Year was over, and that they could be well handled by a professional who had experience.

"I can't say that I'm sold on the idea," said Reeve Allan Cox of Oak Bay.

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich was also less than enthusiastic. Many of the events put on locally, such as Buanecer Day in Esquimalt, were a success simply because they were planned and staged by the people of the community, the reeve said. Reeve Cox agreed, Oak Bay's annual tea party wouldn't benefit by the services of a professional entertainment man, he said.

ELEGANT PEAR SALAD

- 1 pkg. orange jelly powder
- 1 pkg. lemon jelly powder
- 2 cups clear apple juice
- 2 tbsp. lemon juice
- 1/4 cup fresh pears, sliced

Dissolve jelly powder in hot apple juice. Add lemon juice. Refrigerate, and when gelatin reaches consistency of egg white, add sliced fruit. More fruit may be added if desired. Pour gelatin and fruit mixture into ring mold or any 1 quart jelly mold.

- 1/4 cup fresh peaches, sliced
- 1/4 cup fresh pears, sliced
- 4-5 fresh pears, peeled & sliced
- 4-5 fresh pears, pared & halved

Keep in refrigerator until time (overnight is best) and then turn onto lettuce-lined platter. Surround with pear halves and sliced pears. Fill centre cavity with pear slices and top with your own choice of dressing. Serves 6 to 10.

The finest fresh fruit you can buy comes from the sunny mountain valley orchards of British Columbia.

Dive Aide Killed

Names in the News

SONOMA, Calif. — A 23-year-old skydiver plunged 7,500 feet to his death in a field Monday after rescuing a first-time jumper whose parachute hadn't opened. The victim was Richard Wayne Thulin.

The student skydiver, Thane Schroeder, 24, said she, Thulin and four others jumped from a plane at 7,500 feet.

After they had fallen to about 3,500 feet Thulin opened for her to open the chute, but she could not understand him. Thulin, with 110 leaps to his record, manoeuvred under Miss Schroeder, got her chute open at 1,500 feet, then fell past her when his own chute didn't open.

ROME — Italian newspapers have carried a Belgrade newspaper report that movie actress Sophia Loren, 32, who has had two miscarriages, is expecting another baby. The report said the Italian beauty would undergo an operation at a clinic in Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, to enable her to give birth.

BANGKOK — Thai police raided the house of Air Vice-Marshal Chibchal Sawasuprak of the Royal Thai Air Force and arrested 59 persons, including the air marshal and his wife, on charges of gambling. Mrs. Sawasuprak also was charged with resisting arrest after she bit a police captain.

NEW DELHI — The Paschen Lama of Tibet is reported to be working as a laborer in a concentration camp near the Tibetan capital of Lhasa.

VANCOUVER — Mrs. Mary Ekelin, a 56-year-old Vancouver widow, has won the main prize at the Pacific National Exhibition — a 50-pound solid gold brick or $50,000 in cash. Mrs. Ekelin took the cash.

Airpocket Saves Yachtsman

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two Florida couples, whose boat capsized in heavy seas, clung to the craft for nearly 20 hours before they were rescued Monday from the Atlantic off Cape Kennedy.

The boat's skipper, Ernest Austin, said he was knocked unconscious when the 21-foot boat overturned 1 1/2 miles from shore Sunday during a thunderstorm but was caught by ropes which held him in an airpocket inside the boat until he regained consciousness.

BUCHANAN GARDENS, OPEN EVERY DAY 9 A.M. to 5:30 P.M. LIGHTS OFF 11 P.M. — Here's an exciting, thrifty idea. Since there is no extra charge for the romantic after-dark illumination, come early in the evening, enjoy these 30 acres of heavenly beauty by daylight, refresh yourself with a cup of your favorite beverage served at the coffee bar, then leisurely stroll through the gardens after dark under the romantic night lighting. So grand, Reader's Digest featured them in its big American issue, June '67, Canadian issue June '68. To see the fabulous Buchanan Gardens and the spectacular "Rose Fountains" is worth a visit in itself. Surrounded by sheltering hills, the gardens are usually warm and balmy in the evening. So refreshing! So lovely! So relaxing! Take your family, out-of-town guests. Plan a visit now!

Guards Under Fire

LONDON (Reuters) — The British Army Monday confirmed reports that it has called in Scotland Yard to help it investigate homosexuality in elite regiments, including the Royal Horse Guards and the Household Cavalry — which both serve at Buckingham Palace.

Vice squad detectives questioned soldiers to find out if they attended "men only" parties, also attended by several prominent public figures. Reports said young soldiers were given expensive presents for attending.

Homosexual acts are still an offence in the British Army, although a bill passed by Parliament in July allows such acts between consenting adults in private life.

Garden Notes

A Satisfying Plant!

By M. V. CHEANUT

One plant which has given my family a great deal of satisfaction in our garden is the Red Hot Poker — a name which has been handed down from the time when the only known variety was a bright, fiery red. Nowadays we have many new kinds—yellow, orange, pink and cream, and it would perhaps be less confusing to refer to them by their botanical name, Kniphofia, pronounced niff-ohf-ee-a. We have several varieties, some old, some new, and they have been flowering continuously since the latter part of July.

The plant is a native of Madagascar and of South and East Africa, and from its tropical, flamboyant appearance, I had it taped in my book to grow only in a hot, dryish location and in full sun, and in sandy, well-drained loam soil. It performs outstandingly in such a site, but I found out quite accidentally that the Red Hot Poker is a surprisingly good plant for light shade too.

During the war, when I was stationed near Hamilton, Ont., I ran across a peach orchard on the Niagara Peninsula glowing with color — in the fall! Between each row of trees, stretching the full length of the orchard, were narrow beds filled to the brim with these exotic plants.

I found out later that this was a project of the farmer's son, who was putting himself through university by raising and selling Red Hot Poker plants in quantity. Lacking the space for a proper nursery bed, he grew them in the spaces between the trees in his father's orchard. The narrow, willow-like leaves of the peach tree permitted dappled spots of sunshine to filter through to the beds below, and the plants were obviously happy in this semi-shade and rich, well-manured soil.

One characteristic of the Kniphofia which should appeal to the lary gardener is its remarkable permanence. The plant can go on for years without any lifting and dividing, and in fact, I know of one garden where a clump of the variety Royal Standard hasn't been moved for over 15 years, and the thing just keeps on pushing up more and more flower stems every season with no sign of old age or discomfort.

Incidentally, Royal Standard is a real beauty, with spikes of attractive butter yellow in the bottom half, blending to a flowing scarlet on top.

Lord Roberts is an old-timer that performs well for me, with strong, stout spikes of bright orange-scarlet flowers. Red Chief is another dilly, a strong grower with cherry red blooms.

Yellow Hammer is the first of its tribe to bloom in our garden, opening its pale yellow flowers about the last week of July. Our slowpoke is an orange-flowered dwarf variety called Galpinii which doesn't really get going until the middle of September.

One thing you have to remember about the Kniphofia clan — the leaves are evergreen, so you mustn't go cutting them down in the late autumn as you do with the other occupants of the perennial border. They can take quite a lot of winter frost but are sometimes damaged by winter wet lodging in the crown; for this reason it is wise to bundle the leaves together and tie them during the late fall clean-up.

The Red Hot Pokers are easily propagated by lifting and dividing the roots in early spring, just as growth is commencing. They are fairly easy from seed, too, which can be sown in a greenhouse in February, in a coldframe in April, or in an outdoor nursery bed in May.

ART BUCHWALD Punctures an Illusion

Senators Have Questions, Answers

WASHINGTON — Many people are under the impression that congressional committee hearings are held to get information on which U.S. legislators can act in passing laws. This, of course, is ridiculous.

Most congressional committee chairmen, both in the Senate and the House, make up their minds before they hold a hearing, and then select witnesses who will agree with them. Occasionally a witness may testify in opposition to the thoughts of the chairman and then he's in for a rough time.

But by and large, witnesses don't have to do much testifying because the senators and congressmen not only ask the questions but give the answers as well. This is how it goes.

"Now, Mr. Pipkin, isn't it true that the more money we put into termite control, the more termites show up?"

"Yes, Senator."

"And isn't it true that government funds set aside for termites have been spent on other wood-boring pests that have nothing to do with the termite family?"

"That's correct."

"And isn't it further true that our federal termite control program has encouraged termite exterminators to raise their fees, so, in effect, the more termites they can dig up, the more work they can get?"

"I would say that, Senator." "So in your candid opinion the administration has made a mess of our termite control program and millions of dollars in the taxpayer's money have been wasted on a worthless, needless and unproductive program that never should have been started in the first place?"

"Uh huh."

"Now, Mr. Pipkin, as an expert on termite control, is it not your feeling that the best way to attack termites is through strong measures on a local level, without interference from Washington bureaucrats who wouldn't know a termite if they saw one?"

"Yup."

"Before dismissing you, Mr. Pipkin, I would like to say as chairman of this committee, I have never seen a more forthright witness. You have contributed to the enlightenment of these hearings, and I would like to thank you for your able and knowledgeable testimony."

"Thank you."

"Mr. Chairman," one of the other senators said, "I would like to call a witness in favor of the federal termite control program, Mr. Armand Carter."

The chairman says, "We don't have much time. All right, Carter, sit down, but make it short."

"I would like to read a statement."

"We're not interested in your statements. Say what you have to say."

"Well, in regard to termites."

"If you don't mind, Carter, just answer yes or no."

"Yes or no what?"

"Are you holding this committee in contempt?"

"No, I'm just trying to testify in favor of a strong federal termite control bill."

"Well, get on with it then."

"In the housing industry alone."

"Let's not go into the housing industry. Just stick with the facts."

"You won't let me."

"Carter, my committee is willing to listen to anybody, but if you don't have anything new to say, there is no reason to sit here and waste our time. This hearing is adjourned."

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Another Taylor Debuts

SARDINIA (NANA) — Elizabeth Taylor's handsome brother Howard, is making his movie debut in her current picture, Tennessee Williams' The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Anymore. The film title may be changed. Howard, a successful businessman, is 22 years old facing his first film camera. His mother, Mrs. Sarah Taylor, did her damndest to get her boy into National Velvet with his sister, Elizabeth. If you can imagine, Howard was even better looking than Liz, but he was so determined he would not be an actor, that on the way home, after Mrs. Taylor had landed a role for him in Velvet, he went to a barber and got scalped. End of young Howard's movie career. Now, bearded, and a father of five, Taylor is playing a journalist who has a fight with his brother-in-law, Richard Barthelmé. His glamorous sister acted as his agent, went to the producer, got him more money and special billing.

The Burtons will be taking two days off from the film — this was written into the contract with producer John Heyman — to fly to England for the premiere at Oxford of Richard's Doctor Faustus. Elizabeth appears in the film in many guises without speaking a word. In addition to playing a silent Helen of Troy, she is also a fragment of Richard's imagination — remember he has sold his soul to the Devil — a hag, a vicious witch and a silvered lady. The premiere at Oxford in mid-October, will benefit the university drama group.

It is not all work for the Burtons in Sardinia. They have had some parties on good ship Kalixis. Tennessee Williams is still dazed from the directing they threw for him. Director Joe Losey comes aboard regularly to eat, drink and be merry, but also to discuss the film which started three days late because Elizabeth had bronchitis. But Losey, the fastest director anywhere, made up for the delay on the first day with 16 setups! Incredible, when most directors are glad if they finish two or three.

A final word on the film. When playwright scriptwriter Williams saw the $200,000 house perched over a cliff, and built for the movie, he went into transports of joy. "Oh, how beautiful," he exclaimed. "How baroque. Just what I had in mind." With all of this enthusiasm and all the human ingredients, if this picture is not a smash, I'll eat my baroque hat.

Burton, incidentally, will be working with his chum, Dirk Bogarde, in his next movie, Where Eagles Dare. Dirk, a big favorite in Britain — and in North America since The Servant — also has a star role in John Frankenheimer's production of The Fixer. All of which means that Dirk cannot go to New York for the premiere of his and MGM's prize picture, Our Mother's House. This film, directed by Jack Clayton, is the official British entry at the Venice film festival.

Devil's Favorite Phrase SYDNEY HARRIS

The Devil has many favorite phrases, but I am convinced that the one he uses with most potent effect is "You can't change human nature."

People who are fond of saying this are the Devil's advocates, whether they know it or not. They make the comfortable assumption — which excuses their transgressions — that this "human nature" is basically bad.

But every creative social effort springs from our instinctive feeling that you can change human nature.

This is why we train children to curb their greed and respect the rights of others. This is why we provide religious instruction. This is why we have erected all the institutions of education, philanthropy and correction.

They may sometimes do the job badly, but we do not say that, therefore, the job should not be done. We recognize that in every human being there reside two tendencies: toward good and toward evil. The task of society is to encourage the former and dissuade the latter. The task of the Devil is to persuade us that good cannot prevail.

The people who say "You can't change human nature" don't really believe it. Otherwise, they would not educate their children, support their community, or defend a way of life that seems morally superior to them.

Actually, in a real sense, there is no need to change human nature. The requisite goodness is already there; it is a matter of shaping a social order and an ethical climate that provide incentives for this goodness to come to the surface.

Man will always have selfish and evil motives; nobody denies this. But the Devil insists that these motives must prevail. We who belong to the other party believe that man's capacity for virtue is as strong as his capacity for wickedness.

Human nature is somewhat like an undeveloped photograph. How we treat it in the darkroom of society determines whether it will be clear and sharp, or dirty and blurred.

'I Was in Flames,' Plane Survivor Recalls

Death Toll Rises to 33 in Newfoundland Crash

Cuban girl, 10, suffered burns

GANDER, Nfld. (CP)—Seven badly-burned survivors of Tuesday's airliner crash here were being ferried to Montreal for emergency treatment overnight while hospital officials here and in Halifax worked frantically over 29 others, all of them seriously injured.

In a floodlit hangar turned into a morgue about a mile from where the turbo-prop Ilyushin 18 disintegrated in a blinding flash of light, RCMP and other authorities were sorting through the mangled, dismembered bodies of 31 persons killed outright. Two others died in hospital, bringing the death toll to 33. Six or eight Cubans aboard were killed.

ONLY TWO

One of the only two survivors willing and able to talk to reporters Tuesday night described a crash without warning to those aboard about a minute and a half after the plane took off from a refueling stop, to resume its flight to Havana from Prague.

Zdenek Landa, a 36-year-old Prague biologist on his third flight to Cuba, spoke in broken English from a bed in James Paton Memorial Hospital here, his blood-stained face and head swathed in bandages.

"On contact with the soil, I was catapulting off the airplane," he said. "I was in flames."

HE ROLLED

"But because I have the possibility of moving my feet, I rolled."

He thus got himself out of the fire and was later transferred across the cap-cable runway half-copter, put in an ambulance and taken to hospital.

Landa, whose feet and lower legs also were severely burned, was travelling with his wife.

"I do not know about my wife and also four collaborators, geneticists."

He said he works in academic sciences.

His wife apparently was one of those taken to the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax.

These people were in danger of kidney failure—an imminent hazard when burns cover 70 per cent of the body—and the closest mechanical kidney was in Halifax.

SEVEN VICTIMS

However, the Victoria General reported its facilities stretched to the limit and seven more persons were flown to a Montreal hospital Tuesday night.

With the departure of seven severely burned victims for hospital in Montreal, the small hospital here still had 11 survivors. Eighteen victims were flown earlier to hospital in Halifax.

In Halifax, Red Cross officials set up an emergency blood donor clinic and blood was rushed by police from Tatamagouche, N.S., where a regular clinic had been held Tuesday.

An eyewitness to the crash, an employee at the big international air terminal who declined to be named, described the abortive takeoff of the Czech telegraph poles and their cable plane, its disappearance and a before apparently spinning subsequent thunderclap as it across 1,000 yards of moss-covered into a railway line and eroded mud.

Election Aftermath

Thieu Working On Peace Bid

SAIGON (AP) — Nguyen Van Thieu, South Vietnam's president-elect, may within several weeks fulfil an election campaign pledge to try to lure North Vietnam into peace talks with an offer of a bombing pause, informed sources said Tuesday.

But there are no indications that officials in Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, will accept such an overture. North Vietnam has rejected such U.S. offers in the past, and it has had nothing but harsh things to say about Sunday's election in the South. (See also Page 3.)

Radio Hanoi's latest blast was a declaration Tuesday that the victory of chief-of-state Thieu and his vice-presidential running mate, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, was won "by phony votes and ghost voters."

One factor that may force Thieu to bid for peace, election analysts say, is the strong showing of the most outspoken peace candidate, lawyer Truong Dinh Dau.

Expected to finish fourth or fifth, Dau finished second to Thieu with more than 800,000 votes. While the Thieu-Ky military slate got about 1,000,000 votes, Dau's showing was surprising. He campaigned on a platform calling for negotiations not only with Hanoi but with the Viet Cong guerrillas of South Vietnam.

WEEK OR MORE

"I represent peace and democracy," Dau said Tuesday and added that was why he got so many votes in a country weary after 20 years of war.

Thieu said he would ask the United States to stop bombing for a week or more if an indication were received from Hanoi that such a pause might lead to some form of talks between North and South Vietnam.

Now, because of the good showing made by Dau on a peace platform, it is clear to observers here that the issue of peace is here to stay.

SUMMIT EXERCISED

A summit meeting of the South Vietnam's anti-Communist allies is expected after the House of Representatives election Oct. 22.

Peace moves might coincide with the meeting, to be held in Bangkok, Thailand, or Seoul, South Korea.

The validity of the proposed government continued to be challenged. Dau charged that the election "was a nationwide organization for fraud."

STRONG SUPPORT

Returns for the Senate election, which also took place Sunday, continued to dribble in. Preliminary results indicated that Premier Ky should have strong support in the Senate.

Ky might even win as many as 30 of the 80 Senate seats, which would be enough to force him to resign as premier.

The U.S., however, has been pressing Thieu for a civilian as premier to counter criticism of the military character of the regime. In addition, allowing Ky to be both vice-president and premier would force a constitutional change.

DOUBLE DENIAL

The charges of vote fraud were denied by both the Saigon government and the 22-member U.S. observers' committee sent over for the election by President Johnson.

In Washington, a Johnson administration statement said it had thought would be the case.

67 Today

In advance of 67th birthday today, Premier Bennett Tuesday brushed aside question of possible retirement, saying that's for Prime Minister Pearson. He also disclosed U.S. downstream benefit payment of $12,000,000, due to B.C. July 31, will be discussed in Washington, D.C., Thursday by U.S. and Canadian officials.

Wartime Graves Must Go

LONDON (Reuters) — The War Graves Commission confirmed Tuesday that Egyptian President Nasser has demanded the graves of 2,000 British and Commonwealth war dead be moved from a cemetery near Alexandria. (See also Page 1.)

The 2,000 victims of two world wars include Australian, British, Indian, New Zealanders and Pakistanis.

Useful?

Company Stays —Pearson

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson made it clear Tuesday that the Company of Young Canadians won't die out.

He said he hopes the controversial concern now can settle down "and become a useful organization."

Mr. Pearson said he knew the Company would have growing pains "but I didn't appreciate the difficulties would be quite as complicated and great as they are."

"I had hoped the Company would have been at work constructively in Canada and abroad long before this but it has been proven to be far more difficult to put into action than I had thought would be the case."

Two-Nations Endorsed

JOHN D PICKS FLEMING--IF

Fleming

TORONTO (CP)—Progressive Conservative party sources said Tuesday night John Diefenbaker has given Donald Fleming a quiet commitment of support, on an if basis.

The sources, including some from Victoria, said the leader will back Mr. Fleming to keep the party leadership at this week's convention from falling into the wrong hands.

They said this means Duff Roblin, Robert Stanfield or David Fulton, and added Mr. Diefenbaker will enter the race only if he feels Mr. Fleming can't compare these three even with his active support.

The word came after a day in which subcommittees wrestled all day over party policy before sending reports to the 400-member policy committee today, and then, awaiting the leadership vote by more than 2,400 delegates in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday.

Main item was victory for the controversial two-nations theory despite its rejection by Mr. Diefenbaker.

As for formal statements by candidates, George Hees took the spotlight by saying he will offer Mr. Diefenbaker "a very important position" in the cabinet if he is elected leader and then prime minister.

At least two political sources say that a person acting on behalf of Mr. Diefenbaker conferred with Mr. Fleming Tuesday morning and relayed back to Mr. Diefenbaker the former finance minister's assessment of his chances of winning.

Delegates Sure

Tories Seek Holy Grail

By RICHARD JACKSON, Ottawa Bureau

TORONTO—They say here at the Progressive Conservative convention they're electing the next prime minister and not just another Tory leader.

They are the voting delegates, and it's the conviction — almost the creed — of any one of them you'd care to ask.

Power not just as leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition, but power as it's known only to the prime minister.

"It's like we're looking for the Holy Grail," says Erik Winkler, the former MP who recently resigned to go for nomination and, hopefully, election to the Ontario legislature.

He's Optimistic

"It's different," he adds, "only in that we're going to find our guy and he's going to take us back to federal power and glory in this next general election."

Mr. Winkler doesn't identify his own personal nomination for his party's "man who" will be the touchstone to power.

As chairman of the credentials committee — and so a big wheel with the delegates — he must be impartial. Until the moment he pulls down the handle of the electronic voting machine at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday.

Dead Certain

The interesting and perhaps odd thing about it is that he's so dead certain, so absolutely positive — like hundreds of others of the 2,500 or so delegates — that the convention winner is prime minister-bound.

Ask him — or any of them — for a hard reason and they murmur something about people having had enough.

Enough of worry about Quebec and the problem of national unity, of concern over ever-rising living costs, of fears of even higher taxes still to come.

Had more than enough of all these things, say these almost cockily confident delegates, that the voters, in relief, will turn to Saturday's "man who."

Glory Feeling

There's a terribly impressive head of steam being worked up here.

The candidates have sensed this, and all proclaim they'll be the winner Saturday and when the votes are counted in the next election.

They all say the same thing differently on their buttons, banners and broadsides.

Robert Stanfield: "The Man with the Winning Ways."

George Hees: "Hees Can Win."

Donald Fleming: "Ready Now."

Duff Roblin: "Man for Canada."

Wallace McCutcheon: "Power Through Decision."

Alvin Hamilton: "Go Hamilton-Go Canada."

David Fulton: "All Across Canada."

Michael Starr: "Power Through Unity."

Sewage Treatment

City Faces Bill High in Millions

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

Provincial anti-pollution legislation, expected next year, could cost Victoria between $18,000,000 and $21,000,000, aldermen were told Tuesday.

Notice was given recently by the department of municipal affairs that legislation will be proposed at the next session which will enable the Pollution Control Board to compel municipalities to build sewage treatment plants within a specified time.

If Victoria were required to treat its sewage it would mean that the whole concept of sea disposal would have to be abandoned by the city.

In a report to members of the city public works committee Tuesday, City Engineer James Garnett pointed out that Victoria has three disposal outfalls — Grove Point, Macaulay Point and McMillan Point.

At no one of these outfalls is

Murder Charge Follows Ferry Killings

LYTTON (CP) — Bob McKay, 38, was remanded in custody until today when he appeared in magistrate's court Tuesday charged with the capital murder of Gerald Kennedy, 28, and David Earl, 23.

The two were found shot to death Monday on the Lytton cable ferry, drifting in the middle of the Fraser River.

HAD BEEN UNTIED

Their deaths were discovered after residents became impatient waiting for the ferry to berth.

"The ferry had been untied," said a police spokesman.

McKay, of the Lytton Indian Reserve, was charged after a man walked into police headquarters about 90 minutes after the shootings and gave himself up.

The bodies were recovered by Les Hampton, a ferry operator, who was not on duty at the time of the shootings. He went out to the ferry in a rowboat and pulled it to shore.

RIFLE DISCOVERED

Police said each man had been shot once, probably from some distance away.

While autopsies were being performed in Kamloops, police were checking a .32-calibre rifle found along railway tracks a mile from the ferry.

Mr. Errol and Mr. Kennedy were operating the ferry at the time of their deaths. Mr. Errol was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, two of four people drowned July 21 when their car rolled off the end of the ferry.

Ontario Election Call Takes Roberts Out

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Premier John Roberts Tuesday called a provincial general election for Tuesday, Oct. 17, ending months of speculation that his Progressive Conservative party would go to the people this year.

The election announcement apparently was timed with an eye to the national Progressive Conservative leadership convention, ending any speculation that Mr. Roberts might enter the national leadership picture.

LAST WEEKEND

The premier said he did not make his decision on the election date until last weekend. Opposition party sources said they had expected him to postpone any election call until the national convention ends Saturday.

Mr. Roberts said he chose the Oct. 17 date—earlier speculation was for late October or early November—for a variety of reasons.

One was to allow time to plan his Confederation of Tomorrow conference for the last week in November. But he said he does not expect the campaign to get under way until the conclusion of the national leadership convention.

Opposition leaders immediately hailed the election call and said they are ready with their own campaign plans.

Scientist Held In U.S.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—A Japanese member of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's medical research team at the University of Maryland was arrested last Friday for trying to leave the U.S. with three crates of scientific documents, NASA disclosed Tuesday.

Officials said scientist Hidebumi Hamana was preparing to return to his homeland with his wife and daughter after severing connection with NASA, where he was studying the effects of outer space on the function of the brain.

CRATES SEIZED

U.S. customs agents seized three crates labeled "household effects" which contained 38 slides of information on the project plus other scientific documents, data tables, and computations and analyses of the information.

The data, which the officials said would have little value on the espionage market, had been reported missing last Wednesday.

Rain Waits for End, Then Pours

By JEAN MacGREGOR

COBBLE HILL — As officials tallied the day's results and the last horse trailer disappeared out the main gate, the first drops of rain started to fall on the scene of the 56th annual Cobble Hill Fall Fair.

Sides had been overcast most of the day, with a few sunny periods in the afternoon, but spectators showed their approval of the cooler temperatures by turning out a larger crowd than last year.

Within an hour after the finish of the fair, the rain was coming down in torrents.

The popular Fall Fair was officially opened by long-time local resident George Bonner, who said, "I am happy to see the large number of young people who have shown an interest in the fair, and especially in the horse show.

"They will grow up to be the show people of the area for future Cobble Hill Fall Fairs."

One of the big winners of the horse show was Miss Heather McDonald of Cobble Hill, who was the most successful local junior competitor.

She was awarded the Watney Trophy for attaining the most points.

The champion saddle horse of the show was Pacific Wind, owned and ridden by Pam King. Reserve went to Golden Aura, ridden by Wendy Later and owned by Irene King.

There were fewer entries in some categories, such as fruit and vegetables, due to the hot weather.

Always the favorite competition in the Cobble Hill fair is the baby show. This year the best baby in the show prize went to an Auburn-haired little charmer who looked like she had just stepped out of a doll advertisement.

The 11-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Harrison, of Mill Bay, Kimberly, took first place in the six months to one year category.

Colin Henderson, committee chairman of the dairy cattle division, spent part of Labor Day in the kitchen whipping up a cake.

He admitted he was the only entrant in the best cake, made and entered by a man category. But the judges thought the cake was good enough to be awarded first prize.

The Fall Fair officials are not the only ones who were happy to see the day come to an end.

a successful close — several varieties of dogs and their leash-pulling owners were also eager to relax after the comic dog show.

One very small Beagle named Boots looked completely bewildered as she tripped over her skirt while taking first prize in the best dressed dog category.

Boots' young owner, Connie Pringley, calmly untangled her pet and accepted the award.

J. A. N. Balme of Cobble Hill took five first places when he entered various cattle in the Ayrshire division of the dairy cattle category. Biggest winner in the beef cattle division was Ruth Whitaker of Cowichan Station.

who won three firsts and a second. In the sheep division, Eileen Mayer of Duncan won three firsts and a second.

Food Flow Resumed By Peking

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star says Peking has ordered an immediate resumption of all food supplies to Hong Kong.

The English-language tabloid, quoting its "own sources inside China," says Peking wants a resumption of food supplies to Hong Kong by road, rail and sea because it fears "it would lose its food-supply market to Hong Kong."

Food supplies from China have been reduced in the last few months.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains a Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "itching piles." It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief — here's good news. A renowned research institution has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids.

This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very convincing improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained over a period of months! Among these patients were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions — even cases of long standing.

This was accomplished by a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Drug Sale Brings Jail

NANAIMO — Kent Bruce Coleman, 22, was sentenced to 18 months in jail in magistrate's court Tuesday when he pleaded guilty to trafficking in marijuana. Court was told Coleman was charged Aug. 31 after he sold two ounces of the narcotic at $30 an ounce.

VANCOUVER — Police have identified an elderly woman killed in a traffic mishap here Monday as Mrs. Louise Frank, 74, of Courtenay. Police said the Vancouver Island woman was dead on arrival at hospital after she was struck down by a car on Southwest Marine Drive.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. today in St. Peter's Anglican Church for former resident Arthur Charles Clinton, who died suddenly in Powell River on Friday. Rev. Trevor

Williams will officiate at the services, which will be followed by cremation. Mr. Clinton was born in Armstrong, B.C. 60 years ago and spent most of his life as a butcher. He came to Campbell River 22 years ago, after serving overseas in the Second World War with the Royal Canadian Army 39th tank transport, in the second wave that swept the beaches of Normandy on D-Day.

PENDER ISLAND — The island's sports field centennial project has been given a grant by Centennial Affairs Minister Jody Lashman. It amounts to $360. Local money accounted was $40, bringing a total of $1,200.

New Home Recipe Reducing Plan

It's simple how quickly you may lose pounds of unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this home recipe yourself. It's easy, no trouble at all and costs little. Just go to your drug store and ask for four ounces of Naran Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Take two tablespoons full a day as needed and follow the Naran Plan.

If your first purchase does not show you a simple easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't disappear from neck, chin, arms, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow this easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back slurring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly lost disappears — how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Alberni Fall Fair

Prizes Await Patrons

PORT ALBERNI — More than 22 trophies, hundreds of dollars in prize money, and an additional 24 trophies for club members are waiting to be won at the 22nd annual Alberni and District Fall Fair this coming weekend.

Everything from cattle and cupboards to carvings and cauldlights can be entered in the big fair, and an usual, entry forms are pouring in. It's hard to judge just how many entries there will be since many people show up with their entry and entry form in person on Wednesday evening, final date for competitors.

Sponsored by the Kinmen Club, the fair promises to be another huge success, with many entries in the horse show that takes place all day Saturday.

Frank Richter, Minister of Agriculture, will officially open the fair at 8 p.m. Thursday. The midway, with its games and rides, popcorn and balloons, swings open at 5 on Thursday afternoon.

Friday, the grounds open at 9:30 a.m. for cattle judging, and the buildings and Midway at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The grounds close each day at midnight. This year, some lucky purchaser of an admission ticket will go home with a dazzling new two-door hardtop convertible, and as always, there'll be goldfish and teddy bears, figurines and feathered fancies to be won.

The Kinettes, wives of the busy Kinmen, are again looking after the sewing and cooking divisions, and helping staff the food booths.

Considerable work has been done on the big drill hall and other buildings on the fall fair grounds which are now owned by the twin cities. Much of the work involved bringing the buildings up to standards approved by the fire marshal, standards which did not have to apply while the buildings were owned by the Defence department.

Cowichan Fair List Breaks All Records

DUNCAN — Cattle entries for the 100th annual Cowichan Fall Fair on Friday and Saturday are a record high.

Committee Chairman Tom Groves said almost 200 entries have been received including several prize herds from the B.C. Mainland.

Last year there were 272 cattle entries. Among the six exhibitors in the Hereford section, bringing 35 animals, is Carl Fredrick from Princeton, who will compete against Victoria, Nanaimo and local breeders.

The list of other entries includes: 29 head of shorthorn from Victoria and Cedar; 22 Aberdeen Angus from Woodwyn Farm, Saanichton, and Alec Turner's Qualicum farm; 10 Highland cattle from local and Victoria breeders; 36 Jerseys from local farms and Regalawn Farm, Ladner.

Three exhibitors will bring Ayrshire cattle from Cowichan Station, Fairbridge and Sidney and 19 head of Holsteins will come from Victoria, Wellington and the Cowichan area.

Cattle judges this year will be Cedric Dorrell from Vernon, beef; John Patten from Ladner, Holstein and Ayrshire; Oliver Evans from Chilliwack, Jersey and Guernsey.

In addition to the regular classes, there will be 104 entries from 4-H members.

Mothers Win Out

PORT ALBERNI — It was back-to-school day in the Alberni Valley Tuesday.

Crews at Franklin, Sprout and Cameron divisions went back to work on regular shifts after weeks of early shift followed by fire fighting or lay-off. Several thousand men were affected by the return to regular duty.

More than 7,500 youngsters hit the back-to-school trail on foot, by bike and bus in the Alberni Valley, more than 400 of them for the first time.

Although the valley has no kindergarten in its school system at present, a number of private kindergarten and nursery schools are filled to capacity.

And as the long trail of husbands, fathers, teens, tots and in-betweeners left the house on the trek back to work and school, at least one mother, finally relaxing with a welcome cup of coffee was heard to murmur, "This is the one they ought to call Mother's Day."

Plebiscite Soon

'Support College' Strachan Urges

Strachan

NANAIMO — Robert Strachan, provincial NDP leader, has blasted all opposition to the proposed regional college on the island.

"Everyone in the areas concerned (nine school districts north of the Malahat) should support the plebiscite, Sept. 30," he said.

"The answer has to be Yes, because we know the ability of a nation to produce is a direct reflection of the education of its people," he said.

"DON'T EXPRESS"

Of the attitude of people who have advocated voting against the college because of present financing procedures, he advised, "If we disagree with the financial procedures, we shouldn't express them by voting against the plebiscite."

"The location (about six miles north of Nanaimo) is not sufficient reason for voting against the college — the site was recommended by an outside authority Dr. Leonard Marsh.

FALL BEHIND

"We cannot allow Vancouver Island to fall behind in the provision of post-secondary educational facilities," he added.

He said the social impact on the communities near both Notre Dame University in Nelson and Selkirk College in Castlegar, which are less than 30 miles apart, was noticeable.

He said he saw middle-aged housewives who were excited about the opportunity to get college education.

"They've never been to college in their lives before," he added.

Ambulance Given Aid

CHEMAMINUS — Motorists Monday afternoon were in a real holiday spirit—they stopped to help the Chemainus Ambulance on the Trans Canada Highway near Hutchinson Road.

On an emergency run from Chemainus to Victoria with Mickey Sharp driving and Dick Stanton as first aid attendant, the spanking new ambulance was stopped by a blowout.

"People were great. A lot of them stopped and gave us a hand. In five minutes we were on our way again," Mr. Sharp said.

"Motorists were also very good in making room for us, we made Victoria in good time."

"We were very grateful for their consideration in the heavy holiday traffic."

Flood Worry

VANCOUVER — The B.C. Fish and Wildlife branch is investigating the possible effects on sport fishing of a $1,800,000 flood control plan for the Cowichan River, a department spokesman said Tuesday.

"We hope a method can be found for flood control that will not result in the loss of the sport fishing at the upper end of the river," said Fish and Wildlife Director Dr. James Hatter.

Straight

"If the river is straightened and a continuous channel is made, it will not support a good fishery."

Hatter was commenting on a statement by the Cowichan Fish and Game Association, published in The Colonist Saturday, that a water resources department proposal for flood control could destroy fishing in the river.

Fast Flow

Association President Arnie Williams said the proposal to straighten the course of the river would result in faster flow and wash out salmon spawning beds.

Hatter said his department will ask the water resources branch to consider some alternative scheme if research shows the present plan would endanger fishing.

E. H. Vernon, chief of Fisheries Management for the Fish and Wildlife Branch, said results of a Cowichan River study will be completed this winter.

'What's the Score?'

DUNCAN — Music and painting are related arts but an art observer recently took it too literally.

After a good meal, a patron of the Silverbridge Inn walked into the lounge where local painter Peter Yelland had a one-man show. He liked what he saw, but was discouraged when he looked at the prices.

Among the paintings was a landscape he particularly liked.

So did Mr. Yelland, who had marked it with a rather high figure to discourage buyers.

The patron looked once, twice and finally exclaimed, "By golly, does this fellow think he's Beethoven?"

Iwasaki Launches $1,500,000 Suit

GANGES — Torazo Iwasaki, a retired Vancouver Japanese-Canadian, Tuesday launched a $1,500,000 suit against the federal government for land taken from him during the Second World War.

The action was taken in Vancouver's Exchange Court Registry and was in the form of a petition of right.

Mr. Iwasaki's claim says the Secretary of State of Canada had no right to take his two large lots on Salt Spring Island. He asks for an order that the federal government either return the property or give him $1,500,000.

The land was seized in 1942, at which time thousands of Japanese-Canadians living on the B.C. coast were forced to move inland in what authorities said was a war security measure.

Trustees' Wage Hike

PORT ALBERNI — School Board District 29 trustees Tuesday night decided to each accept a $750 annual indemnity.

This amount is applicable in cases where there are between 5,000 and 7,000 students enrolled in a school district as of January 21.

Two of the trustees, Mrs. Helen Ford and Jack Whitall, opposed the indemnity. They were overruled by the other six members.

Courtenay

Residents Vote on Plan

COURTENAY — A poll will be held here Saturday, Sept. 16 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for inclusion of a part of area A, north of the city, into the city boundaries.

The directive to hold the poll has come from J. E. Brown, deputy municipal Affairs minister. It named Keith McKenna as returning officer.

An advance poll will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sept. 14. Voters will be asked "are you in favor of inclusion of your land within the municipal boundaries of the city of Courtenay?"

About 100 people are in the area. This area is adjacent to the northern boundaries of the city, and is situated in a similar location to an area south of the city which will be designated into Courtenay boundaries.

Council Tuesday night also received a request from a resident of the Willemar Avenue area asking to be included in the city. This was referred to the boundary extension committee.

Five areas in June all turned down the vote to be included in the boundary. Immediately following at the first council meeting, those who had voted in favor of joining the city began to petition council and asked for either a second vote, or to be designated in.

Election Aftermath

Thieu Working On Peace Bid

SAIGON (AP) — Nguyen Van Thieu, South Vietnam's president-elect, may within several weeks fulfil an election campaign pledge to try to end North Vietnam's war. Thieu has rejected such U.S. offers in the past, and it has with an offer of a bombing pause, informed sources said Tuesday.

But there are no indications that officials in Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, will accept such an overture. North Vietnam has rejected such U.S. offers in the past, and it has with an offer of a bombing pause, informed sources said Tuesday. (See also Page 3.)

Radio Hanoi's latest blast was a declaration Tuesday that the victory of chief-of-state Thieu and his vice-presidential running mate, Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, was won "by phoney votes and ghost voters."

One factor that may force Thieu to bid for peace, election analysts say, is the strong showing of the most outspoken peace candidate, lawyer Truong Dinh Dzu.

Expected to finish fourth or fifth, Dzu finished second to Thieu with more than 800,000 votes. While the Thieu-Ky military slate got about 1,600,000 votes, Dzu's showing was surprising. He campaigned on a platform calling for negotiations not only with Hanoi but with the Viet Cong guerrillas of South Vietnam.

WEEK OR MORE
"I represent peace and democracy," Dzu said Tuesday and added that why he got so many votes in a country weary after 20 years of war.

Thieu said he would ask the United States to stop bombing for a week or more if an indication were received from Hanoi that such a pause might lead to some form of talks between North and South Vietnam.

Now, because of the good showing made by Dzu on a peace platform, it is clear to observers here that the issue of peace is here to stay.

SUMMIT EXPECTED
A summit meeting of the South Vietnamese anti-Communist allies is expected after the House of Representatives election Oct. 22.

Peace moves might coincide with the meeting, to be held in Bangkok, Thailand, or Seoul, South Korea.

The validity of the newly-elected government continued to be challenged. Dzu charged that the election "was a nationwide organization for fraud."

The assembly must rule on charges of election irregularity and can, if there are too many, declare the election void.

STRONG SUPPORT
Returns for the Senate election, which also took place Sunday, continued to dribble in. Preliminary results indicated that Premier Ky should have strong support in the Senate.

Ky might even win as many as 30 of the 60 Senate seats, which would be strong reinforcement for his demand that Thieu resign him as premier.

The U.S., however, has been pressing Thieu for a civilian as premier to counter criticism of the military character of the regime. In addition, allowing Ky to be both vice-president and premier would force a constitutional change.

DOUBLE DENIAL
The charges of vote fraud were denied by both the Saigon government and the 23-member U.S. observers' committee sent over for the election by President Johnson.

In Washington, a Johnson administration statement said I had thought would be the case.

FLEMING GETS JOHN D CALL

Fleming

TORONTO (CP)—Progressive Conservative party sources said Tuesday night John Diefenbaker has given Donald Fleming a quiet commitment of support, on an if basis.

67 Today

The sources, including some from Victoria, said the leader will back Mr. Fleming to keep the party leadership at this week's convention from falling into the wrong hands.

They said this means Duff Roblin, Robert Stanfield or Dave Fulton, and added Mr. Diefenbaker will enter the race only if he feels Mr. Fleming can't conquer these three even with his active support.

The word came after a day in which subcommittees wrestled all day over party policy before sending reports to the 400-member policy committee today, and then awaiting the leadership vote by more than 2,400 delegates in Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday.

Main item was victory for the controversial two-nations theory despite its rejection by Mr. Diefenbaker.

As for formal statements by candidates, George Hees took the spotlight by saying he will offer Mr. Diefenbaker "a very important position" in the cabinet if he is elected leader and then prime minister.

At least two political sources say that a person acting on behalf of Mr. Diefenbaker conferred with Mr. Fleming Tuesday morning and relayed back to Mr. Diefenbaker the former finance minister's assessment of his chances of winning.

Chatterton in Favor
Mr. Diefenbaker is due here today to size up the situation for himself before he speaks Thursday night.

Mr. Fleming told reporters he will rank fourth or better on the first ballot.

Some of Mr. Diefenbaker's super-loyalists have come out for Mr. Fleming.

One of those who pressed Mr. Fleming to enter the race is Gordon Chatterton, former trade and defense minister.

Another backer of Mr. Fleming is George Chatterton, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich who last November led the Diefenbaker parade when the party leader held a separate meeting in the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa while the party in the next room was voting to hold a leadership convention.

Theodore Ricard, MP for St. Hyacinthe-Bagot and Mr. Diefenbaker's Quebec lieutenant, is said to be in the Fleming camp.

Paul O. Trepanier of Granby, Quebec party president, was reportedly dressed down by the Roblin committee for saying that he might organize a stop-Diefenbaker group should the chief run. This group would have included Quebec backers of Mr. Roblin, George Hees, Mr. Fulton and Mr. Stanfield.

Both the Roblin and Fleming camps were said to have been concerned that Mr. Trepanier's threat might have been enough by itself to drive Mr. Diefenbaker into the contest.

One former Diefenbaker cabinet minister from the West said he is convinced that the chief plans to bow out gracefully and assume the role of elder statesman of the party.

This source also said Mr. Chatterton is definitely backing Mr. Fleming at this point.

Delegates Sure

Tories Seek Holy Grail

By RICHARD JACKSON, Ottawa Bureau

TORONTO—They say here at the Progressive Conservative convention they're electing the next prime minister and not just another Tory leader.

They are the voting delegates, and it's the conviction — almost the creed — of any one of them you'd care to ask. Which perhaps is why all the candidates are hitting hard on the same theme — Victory and Power.

Power not just as leader of Her Majesty's loyal opposition, but power as it's known only to the prime minister.

"It's like we're looking for the Holy Grail," says Erik Winkler, the former MP who recently resigned to go for nomination and, hopefully, election to the Ontario legislature.

He's Optimistic
"It's different," he adds, "only in that we're going to find our guy and he's going to take us back to federal power and glory in this next general election."

Mr. Winkler doesn't identify his own personal nomination for his party's "man who" will be the touchstone to power.

As chairman of the credentials committee — and so a big wheel with the delegates — he must be impartial. Until the moment he pulls down the handle of the electronic voting machine at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday.

Dead Certain
The interesting and perhaps odd thing about it is that he's so dead certain, so absolutely positive — like hundreds of others of the 2,500 or so delegates — that the convention winner is prime minister-bound.

Ask him — or any of them — for a hard reason and they murmur something about people having had enough.

Enough of worry about Quebec and the problem of national unity, of concern over ever-rising living costs, of fears of even higher taxes a year to come.

Had more than enough of all these things, say these almost cockily confident delegates, that the voters, in relief, will turn to Saturday's "man who."

Glory Feeling
There's a terribly impressive head of steam being worked up here.

The candidates have sensed this, and all proclaim they'll be the winner Saturday and when the votes are counted in the next election.

They all say the same thing differently on their buttons, banner and broadsides.

Robert Stanfield: "The Man with the Winning Ways."

George Hees: "Hees Can Win."

Donald Fleming: "Ready Now."

Duff Roblin: "Man for Canada."

Wallace McCutcheon: "Power Through Decision."

Alvin Hamilton: "Go Hamilton-Go Canada."

Dave Fulton: "All Across Canada."

Michael Starr: "Power Through Unity."

Sewage Treatment

By A. H. MURPHY
City Hall Reporter

Provincial anti-pollution legislation, expected next year, could cost Victoria between $18,000,000 and $21,000,000, aldermen were told Tuesday.

Notice was given recently by the department of municipal affairs that legislation will be proposed at the next session which will enable the Pollution Control Board to compel municipalities to build sewage treatment plants within a specified time.

The catch so far as Victoria is concerned is the word "treatment."

If Victoria were required to treat its sewage it would mean that the whole concept of sewerage would have to be abandoned by the city.

In a report to members of the city public works committee Tuesday, City Engineer James Garnett pointed out that Victoria has three disposal outlets — Clover Park, Macaulay Point and McMillan Point.

At no one of these outlets is

Murder Charge Follows Ferry Killings

LYTTON (CP) — Bob McKay, 38, was remanded in custody until today when he appeared in magistrate's court Tuesday charged with the capital murder of Gerald Kennedy, 29, and David Earl, 23.

The two were found shot to death Monday on the Lytton cable ferry, drifting in the middle of the Fraser River.

HAD BEEN UNTIED
Their deaths were discovered after residents became impatient waiting for the ferry to berth.

"The ferry had been untied," said a police spokesman.

McKay, of the Lytton Indian Reserve, was charged after a man walked into police headquarters about 90 minutes after the shootings and gave himself up.

The bodies were recovered by Les Hampton, a ferry operator, who was not on duty at the time of the shootings. He went out to the ferry in a rowboat and pulled it to shore.

RIFLE DISCOVERED
Police said each man had been shot once, probably from some distance away.

While autopsies were being performed in Kamloops, police were checking a 35-calibre rifle found along railway tracks a mile from the ferry.

Mr. Errol and Mr. Kennedy were operating the ferry at the time of their deaths. Mr. Errol was the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James Adams, two of four people drowned July 21 when their car rolled off the end of the ferry.

Balloting Oct. 17

Ontario Election Call Takes Roberts Out

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario Premier John Roberts Tuesday called a provincial general election for Tuesday, Oct. 17, ending months of speculation that his Progressive Conservative party would go to the people this year.

The election announcement, apparently was timed with an eye to the national Progressive Conservative leadership convention, ending any speculation that Mr. Roberts might enter the national leadership picture.

LAST WEEKEND

The premier said he did not make his decision on the election date until last weekend. Opposition party sources said they had expected him to postpone any election call until the national convention ends Saturday.

Mr. Roberts said he chose the Oct. 17 date—earlier speculation was for late October or early November—for a variety of reasons.

One was to allow time to plan his Confederation of Tomorrow conference for the last week in November. But he said he does not expect the campaign to get under way until the conclusion of the national leadership convention.

Opposition leaders immediately hailed the election call and said they are ready with their own campaign plans.

RICHMONT, N.E. (CP)—Liberal Premier Robichaud has denied rumors of a New Brunswick provincial election in late October. He said the vote will come "within eight or nine months."

Useful?

Company Stays —Pearson

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson made it clear Tuesday that the Company of Young Canadians won't die out.

He said he hopes the controversial concern now can settle down "and become a useful organization."

Mr. Pearson said he knew the Company would have growing pains "but I didn't appreciate the difficulties would be quite as complicated and great as they are."

"I had hoped the Company would have been at work constructively in Canada and abroad long before this but it has been proven to be far more difficult to put into action than I had thought would be the case."

Landing Pad Nice Place to Visit, But . . .

Waiting patiently Monday for Centennial Helicopter, originally due last Friday, were three boys loitering on Victoria West landing pad. They were up safely before landing and brief ceremony, involving copter's gifts from Eastern Canada. Centennial Helicopter, going across Canada, was to make 100 stops on coast-to-coast tour but missed Tofino due to bad weather.—(William E. John)

TV Strike Averted

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — A strike that could have blacked out the ABC and NBC television networks just as their new seasons started was averted Tuesday night when contract agreements were reached with the 2,000-member National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians.

Scientist Held In U.S.

BALTIMORE (UPI)—A Japanese member of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's medical research team at the University of Maryland was arrested last Friday for trying to leave the U.S. with three crates of scientific documents, NASA disclosed Tuesday.

Officials said scientist Hidebumi Hazama was preparing to return to his homeland with his wife and daughter after severing connection with NASA, where he was studying the effects of outer space on the function of the brain.

CRATES SEIZED
U.S. customs agents seized three crates labelled "household effects" which contained 38 slides of information on the project plus other identifiable documents, data tables, and computations and analyses of the information.

The data, which the officials said would have little value on the espionage market, had been reported missing last Wednesday.
